14-050 RP-M, 14-126 RP-M, 14-127 RP-M, 14-128 RP-M	This personal income tax case is based on simple mathematics and legal rules. Petitioner first filed a return for income tax and then filed an amended return showing a large reduction of income from the original filing. The claim being that Petitioner was entitled to offset capital losses against ordinary income, all within a one year period, are clearly not permissible. It is black letter law that where a taxpayer has no capital gains in the tax year involved, no capital loss is allowable. Nordvlom Associates, Inc. v. CIR (U.S. Tax Court 1950). Thus, the Petitioner was unable to meet his burden of proof in this matter.	August 20, 2015
13-032 CU, 13-033 P	Because Petitioner did not have adequate source records to perform a detailed audit, the tax auditor was correct in performing a sample and projection audit as set forth in West Virginia Code R. Section 110-15-14b.3.2. In this sales and services tax case, the Petitioner failed to maintain adequate records in which to prove the taxes it owed. Petitioner objected to the method in which the tax commissioner arrived at the taxes owed. This Tribunal found that Petitioner did not meet its burden of proof in proposing that another method of accounting by the Tax Commissioner's auditor would have yielded different results. Therefore, the Petition for Appeal was denied.	July 14, 2015
14-026 RPD	This case relates to the claiming of a special exemption of West Virginia State income tax based on the receipt of certain Federal law enforcement retirement benefits. Petitioner in this matter relies on United States Supreme Court decision Michigan vs. Davis, whereby certain Federal law enforcement officers were allowed similar exemptions as those awarded law enforcement personnel retiring from systems within the governing state. This Tribunal's Final Decision held that the West Virginia Supreme Court decision of Brown vs. Merke is controlling and requires that when construing such an exemption, a court must view the facts and circumstances in totality and upon such a review, this Tribunal found that the Petitioner did not meet his burden of proof. The Petitioner has appealed this decision to the appropriate circuit court.	August 7, 2015
15-302 RPD	Personal income tax cases were all based on and decided relative to the circuit court decision of Dodson vs. Palmer which held that retired, federal law enforcement personnel, residing in the State of West Virginia, are entitled to the same exemption afforded retired state law enforcement and firefighter personnel. This exemption is based solely on such federal retirees not paying into the federal social security program over the course of his or her respective career. In all of these cases, the petitioners were all able to meet their burden of proof and accordingly, prevailed in the matter.	December 23, 2015
15-170 RPD	Personal income tax cases were all based on and decided relative to the circuit court decision of Dodson vs. Palmer which held that retired, federal law enforcement personnel, residing in the State of West Virginia, are entitled to the same exemption afforded retired state law enforcement and firefighter personnel. This exemption is based solely on such federal retirees not paying into the federal social security program over the course of his or her respective career. In all of these cases, the petitioners were all able to meet their burden of proof and accordingly, prevailed in the matter.	December 23, 2015

This exemption is based solely on such federal retirees not paying into the federal social security program over the course of his or her respective career. 14-089 CU-M, 14-090 W-M	This matter involved the resale exemption contained in the combined sales and use tax law. –In this matter, the Petitioner met its burden of proof by showing that the portion of the assessment issued against it for services provided to a Management Company was erroneous because those services were purchased by a Management Company for resale to another consumer. Therefore, the Petitioner prevailed in this matter.	May 13, 2015
14-081 CU	This sales tax collection case involved an out of state company selling products within the state of West Virginia. Although the Petitioner did not set foot in the state and the products sold were then set up and installed by the manufacturer, the Petitioner did rely on a salesman making direct sales calls in the state. Because of the salesman's presence and the creation of a sales force in West Virginia, the Petitioner was held responsible for the collection of all sales taxes on sales of the distributed product. As the West Virginia Supreme Court of Appeals has held, " [T]he crucial factor governing nexus is whether the activities performed in this state on behalf of the taxpayer are significantly associated with the taxpayer's ability to establish and maintain a market in this state for the sales." Tyler Pipe Indus., Inc. v Washington State Department of Revenue, 483 U.S. 232, 250, 107 S. Ct. 2810, 2821, 97 L. Ed.2d 199 (1987). –Here, the activities performed in West Virginia on behalf of the Petitioner are significantly associated with its ability to establish and maintain a market here. These activities create and maintain the Petitioner's market for its sales. In this matter the petitioner did not meet its burden of proof in showing they were not required to collect sales taxes. 14-120 MFE	MOTOR FUEL EXCISE TAX DEFINITION - Use means actual consumption or receipt of motor fuel into a motor vehicle. Lack of knowledge is irrelevant in determining whether motor fuel was used pursuant to the governing law. Rather, use means only actual consumption. See W. Va. Code Ann. § 11-14C-2(90) (West 2010). In this case, the Petitioner claimed they were unaware of the use of dyed diesel fuel in their tanks at the time it was discovered; however, because knowledge is not determinative of liability pursuant to this statute, the Petitioner failed to meet his burden of proof and accordingly, the Petition for Appeal was denied.
