12-246 RPT-M; 12-286 RP-M; 12-287 RP-M	In these 2 cases, which are similar in nature to a total of 10 petitions before this tribunal, we affirm the tax commissioner's assessments in both. Specifically, petitioners argue the doctrine of estoppel in that tax commissioner personnel erroneously advised of how to figure credits with regard to alternative fuel motor vehicle situations. Petitioners did not meet the burden of proving estoppel. Further, in reference to the statutes under this credit (11-6D-4(c), 11-6D-2(e)), petitioners did not meet the burden of proof with regard to how the credits can be applied.	July 28, 2014
12-247 PT; 12-308 RP-M	In these 2 cases, which are similar in nature to a total of 10 petitions before this tribunal, we affirm the tax commissioner's assessments in both. Specifically, petitioners argue the doctrine of estoppel in that tax commissioner personnel erroneously advised of how to figure credits with regard to alternative fuel motor vehicle situations. Petitioners did not meet the burden of proving estoppel. Further, in reference to the statutes under this credit (11-6D-4(c), 11-6D-2(e)), petitioners did not meet the burden of proof with regard to how the credits can be applied.	July 28, 2014
12-268 PT 12-269 PT	Petitioner company argued that they should receive a strategic research and development tax credit as outlined in WV Code 11-13R. Petitioners contracted with another company to install a pipeline. They ran into difficulties during the install related to weather and topography concerns which they claimed met the parameters for the credit. We could not find for the petitioner based on the definitions for this research and development credit. They simply did not meet the criteria.	June 6, 2014
13-337 MFE	Petitioner as an out of state carrier of fuel argued that their failure to secure a diversion number to ship fuel to another state other than the one on the order, was moot since the fuel was propane and did meet the criteria as a special fuel because it was not used, in this case for an internal combustion engine. We could not find for petitioner on this claim as the statute does not indicate such distinction. See WV Code 11-14C-2(57), 11-14C-34(a), 11-14C-2(72).	June 17, 2014
13-454 RPD MFE	Petitioner is a retired federal law enforcement officer. He argued that his retirement income should be excluded from West Virginia personal income tax pursuant to the holding in Dodson v. Palmer, Civil Action No. 00-C-AP. The Office of Tax Appeals ruled that that it should be so excluded.	July 7, 2014
