1.1. Scope. -- The Standards of Ethics of the West Virginia Radiologic Technology Board of Examiners apply solely to persons holding a License or Permit issued by the Board and to persons applying for examination and licensure in order to become a West Virginia Licensed Technologist. This Standard of Ethics consists of the Standard of Practice and the Code of Ethics.

1.2. Authority. -- W.Va. Code § 30-23-5

1.3. Filing Date. -- April 7, 2006

1.4. Effective Date. -- April 14, 2006

§ 18-5-2. Application.

This rule applies to all licensees and permittees under W.Va. Code § 30-23-1 et seq.

§ 18-5-3. Definitions.

The following words and phrases as used in this rule have the following meanings, unless the context otherwise requires:

3.1 "Applicant" means any person making application for examination and/or a license to become a Licensed Radiologic Technologist.

3.2 "Individual" means any person holding a license or permit issued by the Board.

§ 18-5-4. Standard of Practice

4.1 The Standard of Practice forms the first part of the Standard of Ethics. The Standard of Practice shall serve as a guide by which the individual may evaluate his or her professional conduct as it relates to patients, health care consumers, employers, colleagues and other members of the health care team. The Standard of Practice is intended to assist the individuals and applicants in maintaining a high level of ethical conduct and in providing for the protection, safety and comfort of patients. The individual shall:

4.1.1 conduct herself or himself in a professional manner, respond to patient needs and support colleagues and associates in providing quality patient care;

4.1.2 act to advance the principle objective of the profession to provide services to humanity with full respect for the dignity of mankind;

4.1.3 deliver patient care and service unrestricted by the concerns of personal attributes or the nature of the disease or illness, and without discrimination on the basis of sex, race, creed, religion or socioeconomic status;

4.1.4 practice technology founded upon theoretical knowledge and concepts, use equipment and accessories consistent with the purposes for which they were designed, and employ procedures and techniques appropriately;

4.1.5 assess situations; exercise care, discretion and judgment; assume responsibility for professional decisions; and act in the best interest of the patient;

4.1.6 act as an agent through observation and communication to obtain pertinent information for the physician to aid in the diagnosis and treatment of the patient and recognize that interpretation and diagnosis are outside the scope of practice for the profession;

4.1.7 use equipment and accessories, employ techniques and procedures, perform services in accordance with an accepted standard of practice, and demonstrate expertise in minimizing radiation exposure to the patient, himself or herself and other members of the health care team;

4.1.8 practice ethical conduct appropriate to the profession and protect the patient's right to quality radiologic technology care;

4.1.9 respect confidences entrusted in the course of professional practice, respect the patient's right to privacy, conforming to the Health Information Portability & Accountability Act of 1996 (HIPAA) and requirements of protected health information (PHI) and reveal confidential information only as required by law or to protect the welfare of the individual or the community;

4.1.10 continually strive to improve knowledge and skills by participating in continuing education and professional activities, sharing knowledge with colleagues and investigating new aspects of professional practice.

§ 18-5-5. Code of Ethics

5.1 The Code of Ethics forms the second part of the Standards of Ethics. They are directive-specific standards of minimally acceptable professional conduct for all present Licensees, Permittee's and applicants. A license or permit is a method of assuring the medical community and the public that an individual is qualified to practice within the profession. Because the public relies on the Board to issue licenses and permits, it is essential that these individuals and applicants act consistently with this Code of Ethics. The Code of Ethics is intended to promote the protection, safety and comfort of patients. The individuals and applicants engaging in any of the following conduct or activities, or who permit the occurrence of the following conduct or activities with respect to them, have violated the Code of Ethics and could be subject to sanctions. An individual shall not:

5.1.1 Employ fraud or deceit in procuring or attempting to procure, maintain, renew or obtain reinstatement of a license or permit issued by the Board for employment in radiologic technology. This includes altering in any respect any document issued by the Board or any state or federal agency, or by indicating in writing certification or registration with the Board when that is not the case;

Conduct that subverts or attempts to subvert the Board's examination process includes, but is not limited to:

5.1.2 (b) conduct that in any way compromises ordinary standards of test administration, such as communicating with another applicant during administration of the examination, copying another applicant's answers, permitting another applicant to copy one's answers, or possessing unauthorized materials; or
