Section 6. Interim Regulations - Whitewater Recreation Zones.

6.01. A commercial whitewater outfitter shall not exceed 1981 peak weekend or holiday use of any designated whitewater study zone prior to the promulgation of rules and regulations for each study zone by the Commercial Whitewater Advisory Board. Peak use in 1981 is defined as the highest number of commercial watercraft per day in use on each study zone by the outfitter for commercial whitewatering on any Saturday, Sunday or holiday between January 1, 1981, and December 31, 1981.

6.02. A commercial whitewater outfitter may be subject to exemption to the foregoing regulation if the director finds that a substantial financial commitment has been made and a financial hardship will result from operating at the 1981 level. If the director grants an exemption, he will set a peak use figure to apply on each whitewater zone until rules and regulations are promulgated by the Whitewater Advisory Board.

Dear Mr. Secretary:

Enclosed are this department's proposed interim regulations on whitewater recreation zones to be utilized until such time as rules and regulations are promulgated by the Whitewater Advisory Board. It is our opinion that such rules and regulations will have no financial impact on this department, and no fiscal note will be submitted.

Sincerely,
