The plan shall be based on an investigation and analysis of the duties and responsibilities of each position, and each position shall be allocated by the Director of Personnel, after consultation with the appointing authority concerned, to its proper class in the classification plan. When complete, the classification plan shall include for each class of positions an appropriate title, a description of the duties and responsibilities, and the minimum requirements of training, experience, and other qualifications.

4.2. Revision of Plans - The Board may abolish or change existing classes of positions, or may add new classes in the same manner as the classification plans were originally adopted.

4.3. Incumbents of Reallocated Positions - When a position is reallocated to a different class, the Board shall not consider the incumbent eligible to continue in the position unless he or she would have been eligible for original appointment, promotion, transfer, or demotion, to a position of the new class while serving in the position as previously allocated. If ineligible to continue in the position, he or she may be transferred, promoted, or demoted by appropriate action in accordance with the provision of this rule as the Director may determine to be applicable. In any case in which the incumbent is ineligible to continue in the position, and he or she is not transferred, promoted or demoted, the provisions of this rule regarding separations applies.

4.4. Class Specifications - The Director shall consider the class specification in allocating positions and shall interpret it as follows:

(a) Class specifications are descriptive only and are not restrictive. The use of a particular expression of duties, qualifications, requirements, or other attributes shall not be held to exclude others not mentioned.

(b) In determining the class to which any position shall be allocated, the specifications for each class shall be considered as a whole. The Director shall give consideration to the general duties, specific tasks, responsibilities required, qualifications and relationships to other classes as affording together a picture of the positions that the class intended to include.

(c) A class specification is a general description of the kinds of work characteristics of positions properly allocated to that class and not as prescribing what the duties of any position are nor as limiting the expressed or implied authority of the appointing authority to prescribe or alter the duties of any position.

(d) The fact that all of the actual tasks performed by the incumbent of a position do not appear in the specifications of a class to which the position has been allocated does not mean that the position is necessarily excluded from the class, nor shall any one example of a typical task taken without relation to the other parts of the specification be construed as determining that a position should be allocated to the class.

(e) The statement of minimum qualifications expresses the minimum background in terms of education, experience, and/or licensure generally necessary for a new employee to successfully perform the required duties of positions in the job class.

(f) The Director shall consider class specifications as a primary source of authority for the content of examinations for the class and for the evaluation of qualifications of applicants for examinations. Supplemental job information, obtained through job analysis, may be used as a further basis for examinations and minimum qualification standards. Provisions for the substitution of related experience, education, or other qualifications for specific education and/or experience requirements may be made in specific examination announcements for particular positions, even though these provisions are not part of the class specification. In cases of recruitment difficulties or unique positions requirements, the Director, in cooperation with the appointing authority, may use his or her discretion in interpreting minimum experience, training and/or licensure requirements and in accepting equivalent experience, training and/or licensure.

4.5. Position Descriptions

(a) Position description forms shall be prescribed by the Director.

(b) The position description is an official record of the duties and responsibilities assigned to a position and shall be used by the Division of Personnel to allocate the position to its proper ~~classification~~ class.

(c) The position description shall include a current description of assigned duties and responsibilities and other pertinent information concerning a position. In contrast to general definitions of the level of work and responsibilities, the position description shall include specific duties and responsibilities assigned to a position by the appointing authority.

(d) The position description shall not be construed in any way to limit the expressed or implied authority of the appointing authority to prescribe or alter the duties of any position.

(e) Position descriptions shall be kept current by the appointing authority for each position under his or her jurisdiction. When the appointing authority significantly alters the duties and responsibilities of a position, the appointing authority shall prepare and forward a revised position description to the Director.

(f) If an appointing authority fails to notify the Director of significant alterations in the duties and responsibilities of a position, the incumbent in the position may file with the Director a written request for a review of his or her position.

4.6. Reclassification

(a) Upon its own initiative, or at the request of an appointing authority, the Board may reclassify positions by the creation or abolishment of classes, or the revision of the definition of the work of the classes brought about by changing work methods, new technology or reorganization.

(b) For each position affected the appointing authority shall provide a current description of the duties and responsibilities assigned.

(c) The employee in the position at the time of a reclassification is entitled to continue to serve in that position, provided that the employee meets any licensure or certification requirements .

(d) Any incumbent in a position reclassified under this subdivision has the right to a reconsideration of the action by the Director. After filing with the Director a written request for reconsideration in a manner and form prescribed by the Director, the employee shall be given a reasonable opportunity to be heard by the Director. The interested appointing authority shall be given the same opportunity to be heard.

4.7. Position Reallocation - Whenever substantial changes occur in the duties and responsibilities permanently assigned to a position, the Director shall reallocate the position to its proper class. The incumbent or the appointing authority may seek a reconsideration of the allocation action by submitting a written request to the Director within ten (10) calendar days of the effective date of the action. The Director shall not reallocate a position based on temporary changes in the duties and responsibilities assigned to the position.

4.8. Temporary Classification Upgrade. With the approval of the Director, an appointing authority may temporarily upgrade the classification of an employee temporarily performing the duties of a position in a higher pay grade due to a separation or an extended leave of absence, for a short-term project, or in an emergency situation. A temporary classification upgrade shall be within the same service, classified or classified-exempt, and, except for ~~classifications~~ classes allocated to the approved hourly pay schedule, shall be for a continuous period of no less than 30 days and no more than six months. The Director, at his or her discretion, may extend the period of a temporary classification upgrade period by increments of three months or less. The Board shall establish salary, qualification, and administrative standards for implementation of this subsection.

4.9. Classification Plan for the Classified-Exempt Service

(a) Upon the recommendation of the Director, the Board shall adopt and make effective a classification plan for the classified-exempt service. This plan shall be developed and maintained so that all positions sufficiently similar with respect to type, difficulty, and responsibility of work are included in the same class. The plan shall be based on an analysis of the duties and responsibilities of each position, and each position shall be allocated by the Director of Personnel to its proper class in the plan.

(b) Each appointing authority shall report to the Director the establishment of new positions or any material changes in the duties and responsibilities of existing positions in the classified-exempt service. The Director may at any time require the appointing authority to submit a statement of the duties and responsibilities of incumbents of any position in the classified-exempt service.

(c) The appointing authority shall, on the appropriate specified forms, report to the Director any changes in class title, pay, and status of any employee in the classified-exempt service.

(d) If an appointing authority wishes to request names of applicants for consideration for employment in the classified-exempt service, he or she shall make the request on appropriate forms specified by the Director. In no event shall a classified service vacancy be filled from a certification prepared for a classified-exempt service vacancy.

(e) The employee affected by the allocation of a position to a class may file with the Director a written request for reconsideration and shall be given a reasonable opportunity to be heard by the Director. The appointing authority shall be given like opportunity to be heard. The employee shall submit the request for reconsideration of a classification action in writing within ten (10) calendar days of the effective date of the classification action.

Section 5. Compensation Plan and Salary Administration

Pursuant to the provisions of the W.Va. Code §29-6-10(2), the following salary regulations in this section apply to classified employees .

5.1. Purpose and Intent - To attract qualified employees and retain them in the classified service, the Board shall endeavor to provide through the pay plan adequate compensation based on the principles of equal pay for equal work among the various agencies and on comparability to pay rates established in other public and private agencies and businesses.

5.2. Preparation of the Plan - After consultation with the appointing authorities and State fiscal officers and after a public hearing, the Director and the Board shall prepare and submit to the Governor for his or her approval any revision of the pay plan. The pay plan shall include salary schedules containing multiple pay grades with minimum and maximum rates of pay for each grade and a plan of implementation. The pay plan shall also include a market rate for each grade which shall be established by the Director to approximate the market midpoint pay level among southeastern state governments selected by the Director. The Board may make periodic amendments to the pay plan in the same manner.

5.3. Adoption of the Plan - The plan becomes effective only after it has been approved by the Governor. The approved pay plan constitutes the official schedule of salaries for the classified service.

5.4. Implementation of Plan

(a) Assignment of Classes - The Board shall assign each class of positions to an appropriate pay grade consistent with the duties outlined in the class specification. No salary shall be approved by the Director of Personnel unless it conforms to one of the pay rates in the pay grade assigned to the employee's class of position.

(b) Entry Salary - The entry salary for any employee shall be at the minimum salary for the class including any applicable Board approved pay differential. However, an individual possessing pertinent training or experience above the minimum required for the class, as determined by the Director, may be appointed at a pay rate above the minimum, up to the market rate of the salary range, unless otherwise prescribed by the Board. For each pay increment above the minimum, the individual must have in excess of the minimum requirements at least six months of pertinent experience or equivalent pertinent training. The Director may authorize appointment at a rate above the market rate where the appointing authority can substantiate severe or unusual recruiting difficulties for the job class.

(c) Standard Rates of Pay - The compensation plan applies to all classes of positions in the classified service unless specifically excepted by statute or statutory authority. It provides standard pay rates for full-time employees for regularly established working hours in all offices and departments. The salary or wage paid is determined by the pay grade to which the classification class of the position has been allocated. All employees, including those serving in positions on a part-time basis, shall be paid in proportion to the actual time worked.

(d) Additional Pay - Except for authorized overtime, Board approved pay differentials, or other statutorily required and/or authorized payments, appointing authorities shall make no pay additional to the regular salary to any employee. The rates as provided do not include reimbursements for actual and necessary expenses incurred incident to employment such as travel expense. Additional duties imposed or volunteered are not an exception to this rule.

(e) Availability of Funds - Before an agency makes salary adjustments and advancements in accordance with this rule, its fiscal officer shall certify that funds for this purpose are available.

(f) Salary Adjustments

1. New Plan

a. Upon adoption of a new pay plan the Board shall require and may approve or modify a plan of application which assures as nearly as possible that all incumbents in the classified service receive equal treatment in terms of pay.

b. An incumbent whose salary falls below the minimum rate of the new range shall have his or her salary adjusted to the new minimum.

c. An incumbent whose salary falls above the maximum rate of the new range shall maintain his or her current salary and is ineligible for salary advancements.

2. Pay on Reclassification

b. Lower Minimum

1. When a class is reassigned by the Board to a salary range having a lower minimum, the salaries of those incumbents which are within the new range shall remain unchanged.

2. Where the salary of the incumbent is above the maximum rate of the new range, the salary shall remain unchanged and the incumbent is ineligible for salary advancements.

c. The Board, by formal action, may approve or modify a plan of application on reclassification other than those described in subparagraphs 5.4.(f)2.a. and 5.4.(f)2.b. of this rule based on documented recruitment and/or retention difficulties or consideration of equal treatment in terms of pay for reclassified employees.

3. Pay on Position Reallocation - When a position is reallocated to a different class, the salary of the incumbent shall be adjusted in accordance with salary regulations for promotion, demotion and lateral class change.

4. Pay Differentials - The Board, by formal action, may approve the establishment of pay differentials to address circumstances such as class-wide recruitment and retention problems, regionally specific geographic pay disparities, shift differentials for specified work periods, and temporary upgrade programs. In all cases, pay differentials shall address circumstances which apply to reasonably defined groups of employees (i.e. by job class, by participation in a specific program, by regional work location, etc.), not individual employees.

5. Separation from Employment - Salary adjustments are not given to employees separating from

In no case shall an employee receive an increase which causes the employee's pay to exceed the maximum for the pay grade to which he or she is being promoted.

(b) Exceptions

1. If the salary of an employee being promoted is at or above the maximum rate of the pay grade to which the employee is being promoted, or, if his or her salary is within one pay increment, as established by the State Personnel Board, of the maximum rate of the pay grade to which he or she is being promoted, the employee shall receive an increase of one pay increment with the promotion.

2. If an employee has been demoted or reallocated to a class at a lower pay grade with no reduction in pay and is promoted or reallocated within the next twenty-four months within the same agency, no consideration shall be given to the pay grade(s) reduced in the demotion or reallocation when calculating pay on promotion as provided in subdivisions 5.5(a) and (b) of this rule.

(c) Additional Increase - The appointing authority may grant additional incremental increases, as established by the State Personnel Board, to an employee being promoted if the employee has sufficient qualifications in excess of the minimum required for the new class. The employee must possess at least six months of pertinent experience or an equivalent amount of pertinent training for each additional incremental increase granted. In no case shall the additional incremental increase cause the employee's pay to exceed the maximum for the pay grade to which he or she is being promoted.

5.6 Pay on Demotion

(a) The appointing authority has the discretion to reduce or not reduce the pay rate of any employee who is demoted if the employee's pay rate is within the pay range of the job class to which the employee is demoted.

(b) The appointing authority shall reduce the pay rate of an employee who is demoted and whose if the employee's current pay rate is above the maximum pay rate for the new classification to at least the maximum pay rate of the new classification or, job class to which the employee is demoted. The reduction may be to any pay rate within the pay range of the job class to which the employee is demoted as long as the pay rate does not exceed the maximum pay rate of the pay range. If the demotion is to a formerly held classification job class and the employee's current pay rate is above the maximum pay rate for the job class, the reduction may be to any pay rate within the pay range of the job class to which the employee is demoted or to his or her last pay rate in the formerly held job class, even if the last pay rate is above the maximum pay rate for the job class. The employee's salary may remain the same if his or her pay is within the pay range of the new classification class, or his or her pay may be reduced to a lower pay rate in the new range.

5.7. Pay on Lateral Class Change - Any employee who receives a lateral class change shall be paid the same salary received prior to the change except in cases where the change is to an agency or job class for which the Board has approved, or the Legislature has authorized, a higher pay range for the pay grade.

5.8. Pay on Reinstatement - The salary for an employee who is reinstated shall be at the minimum salary for the class including any applicable Board approved pay differential. However, an individual possessing pertinent training or experience above the minimum required for the class, as determined by the Director, may be appointed at a pay rate above the minimum, up to the market rate of the salary range, unless otherwise prescribed by the Board. For each pay increment above the minimum, the individual must have in excess of the minimum requirements at least six months of pertinent experience or equivalent pertinent training. (b) Eligibility - Salary advancements are limited to permanent employees.

(c) Amount - Salary advancements are limited to a maximum established and subject to change by the State Personnel Board, and shall not cause the new salary to exceed the maximum of the pay grade to which the employee's class is allocated. The State Personnel Board shall establish the maximum for salary advancements by policy on implementation of the pay plan [i.e. as of 5/1/94, no more than 10% in any 12-month period] as specified in subsection 5.2. of this rule.

(d) Exceptions - An employee with seven years of total state service who has attained the maximum or above in the range, or for whom a salary advancement would result in his or her salary exceeding the maximum in the range for the class is eligible for a salary advancement. The salary advancement is limited to the difference between two pay increments [i.e. as of 5/1/94, two pay increments equal 10%] and the total percentage of all other increases in pay in the immediately preceding twelve month period except general wage increases mandated by the Legislature.

(e) Effective Dates - Salary advancements for permanent employees are effective on or after the date on which the employees become eligible for the salary advancements.

5.10. Annual Increment Increase - The Board, by formal action, may establish uniform procedures which shall be followed by all State agencies and spending units for compensating eligible employees of the State and its spending units for the annual increment increase provided for in W.Va. His or her rank on the register shall be determined by his or her final earned examination score.

(b) Reinstatement to a register as provided for in the previous subdivision is subject to the following conditions:

1. The person petitioning the reinstatement shall make his or her request to the Director in writing and shall furnish whatever information the Director may require.
2. No person may be reinstated to a register who does not satisfy the current minimum qualifications for the position class for which the register is maintained. The Director may require that he or she pass an appropriate examination in the case of position classes requiring special skills.
3. No person may be reinstated to a register from which he or she has been or may be disqualified under subsections 6.4, 7.3, or 8.2 of this rule.

Section 8. Certification of Eligibles

8.1. Request for Certification - If a vacancy occurs in any position in an agency or if new positions are established and new employees are needed, requisitions shall be submitted by the appointing authority to the Director upon a prescribed form. This requisition shall state the number of positions to be filled in each class, identifying each class title and all other pertinent information.

8.2. Certification Methods

(a) Upon receipt of a requisition, the Director shall first certify and submit to the appointing authority the names of available persons from the appropriate preference register. If no appropriate preference register exists, the Director shall then certify and submit to the appointing authority the names of available persons from the appropriate competitive register established as a result of open competitive examination for the class of position. The number to be certified and submitted will be governed by this subdivision. Nothing in this subdivision shall be construed as altering the exhaustion point of a register as described in subdivision 7.2(a) of this rule.

1. The Director shall first certify and submit the names of all available eligibles from the appropriate preference register. If there are no available qualified eligibles on the appropriate preference register, then the Director shall certify the top ten names or the names of any persons scoring at or above the ninetieth percentile on the open competitive examination. The Director may certify additional names at his or her discretion.

2. If the competitive register established as a result of a Division of Personnel examination for a specific class of position is exhausted, the Director may certify names from the register, or registers, most appropriate. If there is no register which the Director considers appropriate, then the Director may certify and submit names from a register established as described in subsection 7.1 of this rule.

3. Appointments may be made from a certification anytime within six months of the date of the certification. Six months after the date of the certification, the certification shall be null and void.

(b) If an eligible receives a probationary or permanent appointment, the appointment constitutes for its duration, a waiver of his or her right to certification from any other register on which his or her name appears for a class of position, the salary of which is either equal to or lower than that salary covered by his or her appointment, unless at the time of the appointment he or she requests in writing that his or her name be retained for certification from the register or registers. If a laid-off permanent classified state employee receives a probationary or permanent appointment to a classified position, that employee is no longer eligible for appointment from any preference register.

(c) The name of each employee whose name appears on a register for a class of position with a higher salary range than the salary range of his or her present class of position shall be certified and submitted by the Director and given consideration by the agency for the higher class of position if his or her name is reached.

(d) If in the exercise of his or her choice provided under subsection 9.2 the appointing authority passes over the name of an eligible on a competitive register in connection with three separate appointments he or she has made from the register, written request may be made of the Director that the name of the eligible be omitted from any subsequent certification of the same appointing authority from the same competitive register. The name of the eligible shall thereafter not be certified to the appointing authority from that register for future vacancies in that class of position, or from subsequent registers established for that class of position. However, upon change of the person occupying the position of appointing authority, the Director shall reinstate the name of that person for certifying purposes and shall inform the agency of the reinstatement. If, subsequently, the eligible is interviewed by the agency and rejected once for the same position, his or her name shall not again be certified for that position to that agency during the tenure of the then incumbent appointing authority.

(c) An eligible may be considered not available by the Director if he or she fails to reply to a written inquiry after five days or to telecommunication within 48 hours in addition to the time required for the transmission of the inquiry to his or her last-known address and the reply to the inquiry.

8.3. Selective Certification - Any certification may limit consideration to only those individuals who possess specific qualifications determined to be essential for performance of the duties of a specific position. Selective certification must be approved by the Director.

(a) If a specific position requires special qualifications that are not common to all positions in that ~~classification~~ class, the appointing authority may request that certification be limited to candidates possessing those qualifications. Eligibles shall have adequate opportunity for special qualification consideration. The specific criteria for the restriction of certification shall be based on the duties of the position as verified by job analysis or by an official position description and written justification.

(b) The Director of Personnel may approve a request for selective certification by gender if the appointing authority provides written justification which clearly shows that only persons of the required gender can perform the duties of the position and the Director has conferred with the Human Rights Commission.

(c) The Director of Personnel may limit certification to candidates available to work at the location of the job. The Director of Personnel may further limit certification geographically when the duties of the position require rapid response to unscheduled emergencies during off duty hours. The appointing authority shall provide written justification of any request for geographic selective certification based on essential duties of the position. The Director shall establish the boundaries of the acceptable geographic areas based on the specific location and demands of the job. The appointing authority shall consider candidates living outside the boundary if they are willing to relocate to the area.

(d) Except for preference certifications, the Director may determine, for certain unskilled or semiskilled job ~~classifications~~ classes for which no previous education, training, or experience is required, that eligibles may be selected for certification by lot. In those cases, all eligibles shall have equal opportunity for certification. No rank order shall be established for the register. Selection for certification by lot will be determined as vacancy requests are received. Once the certification has been made for a particular vacancy, a new certification shall not be issued for the same class and location for sixty days. The employing agency shall offer opportunities for interviews to candidates in the order in which they appear on the certification. It is the responsibility of the employing agency to insure, to the extent practicable, that appointments from the certifications are made based on job-related merit and fitness.

8.4. Corrections of Errors

(a) In the event that a name is certified in error and the error is discovered before one of the named applicants is notified that he or she is appointed, the Director shall withdraw the erroneous certification and make a correct certification. If a certification is to fill more than one position, the Director shall withdraw only that portion of it pertaining to positions for which applicants have not been notified that they are appointed .

(b) In the event a name is certified in error and the error is discovered after one of the named applicants is notified that he or she is appointed but prior to the effective date of the appointment, the Director shall withdraw the certification and appointment as in subdivision (a) of this subsection unless:

1. Acceptance of the appointment caused the named applicant to change his or her place of residence; or,
2. Acceptance of the appointment caused the named applicant to resign from a position that cannot be regained.

(c) In the event a name is certified in error and the error is discovered after the effective date of the appointment of one of the named applicants, the appointment shall continue.

Section 9. Appointments

9.1. Appointees in Positions Added to the Classified Service

(a) When additional state agencies or parts of state agencies are added to the classified service by executive order of the Governor with the consent of the Board and the appointing authority concerned, and when additional county or municipal agencies are added to the classified service by agreement between the local government and the Director with the approval of the Board, a date for the addition shall be fixed by agreement.

(b) All appointments made on and after that date to the positions added to the classified service shall be made in accordance with this rule.

(c) The Director shall administer qualifying examinations to any person employed in a position added to the classified service who has been employed in that position continuously for six months immediately prior to the addition. If recommended by the appointing authority, the Director may admit the employee to a qualifying examination regardless of the minimum qualifications for the class to which his or her position is allocated. The appointing authority shall appoint each person passing the qualifying examination for probationary or permanent employment. The qualifying examinations shall be held within six months after the date of addition of the position to the classified service. The examinations shall include appropriate written and performance tests where these tests are included in open competitive examinations for the class. The appointing authority shall, within thirty days after the examination, separate from employment any employee who fails to pass the qualifying examination unless there are no available eligibles on the register for the class, in which case his or her employment may be continued but he or she must be separated from employment within thirty days after certification of available eligibles.

(d) The appointing authority shall, within thirty days of the date of affiliation, separate from employment any person employed in a position added to the classified service for less than six months preceding that date of affiliation unless there are no available eligibles on the register for the class. If there are no available eligibles, his or her employment may be continued but he or she must be separated from employment within thirty days after certification of available eligibles. He or she may be given a probationary appointment if he or she has passed an open competitive examination for the class and is eligible for appointment within the provisions of subsection 9.2 of this rule.

(e) In making the appointments provided for in subdivisions 9.1(c) and (d) of this rule the appointing authority may count employment in the agency immediately prior to the appointments as part or all of the probationary period required under Section 10 of this rule. The appointing authority shall promptly report to the Director his or her decision for the records.

9.2. Original Appointments

(a) Appointing authorities shall make all original appointments to classified positions in accordance with this rule. An appointing authority shall select for each position first from the eligibles on an appropriate preference register in accordance with subdivision 12.4 (i) of this rule. Upon exhaustion of the preference register, the appointing authority shall select for each position from the top ten names on the register, including any persons scoring the same as the tenth name, or any persons scoring at or above the ninetieth percentile on the open competitive examination, as provided by subsection 8.2 of this rule. The appointing authority may exclude the names of those eligibles who failed to answer or who declined appointment or of those eligibles to whom the appointing authority offers an objection in writing based on subsection 6.4 of this rule ~~which~~ and the objection is sustained by the Director.

(b) In selecting persons from among those certified, the appointing authority may examine their applications and reports of investigations and may interview them. Final selection shall be reported in writing by the appointing authority to the Director.

(c) If the eligible selected declines the appointment, the appointing authority shall transmit evidence of declination and other data to the Director for the permanent record. The Director may consider an eligible as having declined appointment if the eligible fails to reply after five days in addition to the time allowed for transmission of the letter and return of reply, or 48 hours, if notified by telegram. If an eligible accepts an appointment but fails to present himself or herself for duty at the time and place specified without giving reasons for the delay satisfactory to the appointing authority and the Director, he or she shall be considered to have declined the appointment.

9.3. Provisional Appointments

(a) If there are urgent reasons for filling a position and there is no appropriate preference register and there are fewer than three available eligibles on the competitive register established as a result of an examination for the position, and no other appropriate register exists, the appointing authority may submit to the Division of Personnel the name of a person to fill the position pending examination and establishment of a register. If that person's qualifications have been certified by the Director as meeting the minimum qualifications as to training and experience for the position, that person may be provisionally appointed to fill the existing vacancy until an appropriate register is established and appointment made from the register. The position must be classified and minimum qualifications established for the position in accordance with this rule before provisional appointments may be made. No provisional appointment shall be continued for more than thirty days after an appropriate register has been established for the class of position and in no event for more than 6 months from the date of appointment, nor shall successive provisional appointments of the same person be permitted, nor shall a position be filled by repeated provisional appointments.

~~(b) Employees not covered by subsection 9.2 of this rule and all appointments made without a register subsequent to the effective date of this rule but prior to the holding of examinations shall be regarded as provisional appointments.~~

(eb) Time spent on a leave of absence without pay shall not extend the period of a provisional appointment.

9.4. Intermittent Appointments

(a) The Director shall prepare lists of names of persons who have successfully passed an examination for intermittent positions. The lists shall consist of the names of the successful candidates arranged in the order of final scores on the examination. Appointing authorities shall make their selection for each position from the ten highest available names on the list or from the names of any persons scoring at or above the ninetieth percentile. Once a person has received an intermittent appointment in accordance with this subdivision he or she may be given successive intermittent appointments without regard to standing on the list.

(b) In no case shall intermittent employment of an individual continue for more than 945 hours worked and/or hours of paid sick and/or annual leave in any twelve-month period beginning with the date of the original intermittent appointment, nor shall an intermittent appointment be preceded or followed by a temporary appointment or any other limited term employment within the twelve-month period.

9.5. Temporary Appointments

(a) If an employee is needed for a temporary period, the Director shall make a certification of the names of those eligibles who have indicated a willingness to accept temporary employment in the order of their places on an appropriate competitive register. The Director shall make the certification in the manner prescribed in Section 8 of this rule. Appointing authorities shall make temporary appointments in the same manner as prescribed in this rule for probationary appointments.

(b) The duration of a temporary appointment shall be limited to the period of the need and in no event shall a temporary appointment continue for more than 6 consecutive months in any twelve-month period. The acceptance or refusal of a temporary appointment shall not affect an eligible's standing on a register or his or her eligibility for a probationary appointment. Successive temporary appointments to the same position shall not be made nor shall an employee receive continued temporary appointments in the same agency, nor shall a temporary appointment be preceded or followed by an intermittent appointment or any other limited term employment within the twelve-month period.

9.6. Limited Term Employment - Appointing authorities may employ individuals for a limited period of time in accordance with the provisions of this Rule and W.Va. Code §29-6-1 et seq. Limited term employment includes, but is not limited to, 30-day emergency, 90-day exempt, temporary, intermittent, and student appointments and seasonal employment with a state forest, park or recreational area.

9.7. Posting of Job Openings - Whenever a job opening occurs in the classified service, the appointing authority shall post a notice within the building, facility or work area and throughout the agency that candidates will be considered to fill the job opening. The notice shall be posted for at least ten (10) working days before making an appointment to fill the job opening. The notice shall state that a job opening has occurred, describe the duties to be performed, and the classification class to be used to fill the job opening.

(a) The term job opening refers to any vacancy to be filled by original appointment, promotion, demotion, lateral class change, reinstatement, or transfer except any vacancy filled as a result of an employee exercising his or her bumping rights as provided in subdivision 12.4.(g) of this rule.

(b) The posting notice shall include a description of the duties to be performed by the person selected, the minimum qualifications for the position, the job classification class to be used in filling the job opening, the salary level or range that will be considered, the full-time equivalent for the position, and the job location.

(c) An established closing date, if any, for the receipt of applications shall allow sufficient time to ensure that the job vacancy circulation has been posted throughout the agency for ten (10) working days. The naming of an individual to fill the position is the appointment and is not altered by the fact that the individual will not assume the duties until a later date. Therefore, the agency shall not make an appointment to a position prior to the deadline for receipt of applications as listed on the posting.

(d) The appointing authority shall give due consideration of those employees who apply and are eligible for the posted vacancy.

(e) If a posted vacancy is not filled within six months of the established closing date, the appointing authority must re-post the vacancy prior to an appointment to the vacant position.

(f) Any employee in the classified service who believes that the posting time and notice requirements of this subdivision have been violated or who is denied consideration for the job opening has the right to initiate a grievance as provided for in W.Va. Code §29-6A-1 et seq.

(g) The vacancy posting requirements in this subdivision shall apply to all classified position vacancies except demotions with prejudice and/or transfers for cause.

Section 10. Probationary Period

10.1. Nature, Purpose, and Duration

(a) The probationary period is a trial work period designed to allow the appointing authority an opportunity to evaluate the ability of the employee to effectively perform the work of his or her position and to adjust himself or herself to the organization and program of the agency. It is an integral part of the examination process and the appointing authority shall use the probationary period for the most effective adjustment of a new employee and the elimination of those employees who do not meet the required standards of work.

(b) Appointing authorities shall make all original appointments to permanent positions from officially promulgated registers for a probationary period of not more than one year. The Board shall fix the length of the probationary period for each class of position. The appointing authority shall notify the Director of Personnel when a probationary period has been completed and permanent status has been granted. This subdivision shall not be construed to prohibit application of time served in a provisional status to completion of a probationary period. The period of provisional appointment may apply toward completion of the probationary period only for that part served continuously, in the same class, and immediately prior to an original appointment. However, it is the responsibility of the appointing authority to state in writing at the time permanent status is being granted that the time served in a provisional status has been applied toward completion of a probationary period.

(c) Time spent by probationary employees on a leave of absence without pay extends the probationary period.

10.2. Conditions Preliminary to Permanent Appointment

(a) Four weeks prior to the end of the probationary period, the appointing authority shall obtain from the probationary employee's supervisor a statement in writing recommending that the employee be continued or not be continued in service. This statement shall include an appraisal of the employee's services and should include a service rating in conformity with the system of performance evaluation prescribed by the Director. If the appointing authority determines that the services of the employee shall be retained, the appointing authority shall notify the employee and the Director of Personnel of the action no later than the last day of the probationary period.

(b) In the event the appointing authority takes no action on the status of a probationary employee before the expiration of the probationary period, either to retain or terminate, the employee shall be considered as having attained permanent status. Permanent status begins the first day following the ~~last day~~ expiration of the probationary period.

10.3. Demotions during Probation - The serving of a probationary period shall not, of itself, prevent an employee from being demoted to a position in a lower class, provided he or she meets the minimum qualifications of the lower class. However, the appointing authority may not take this action until the employee has been presented with the reasons in writing and has been given a reasonable time to reply in writing, or to appear personally and reply to the appointing authority or his or her designee. The appointing authority shall not take this action until the employee has completed one-third of the probationary period. The probationary period for the class of position to which the employee is demoted begins with the date of demotion.

10.4. Transfers during Probation - An appointing authority shall not transfer an employee during his or her probationary period to a position in another class. An appointing authority shall not transfer an employee, certified to a vacancy on a geographic selective certification in accordance with the provisions of subsection 8.3 of this rule, from that geographic area to any other geographic area or class.

10.5. Dismissal during Probation

(a) If at any time during the probationary period, the appointing authority determines that the services of the employee are unsatisfactory, the appointing authority may dismiss the employee in accordance with subsection 12.2. of this rule. If the appointing authority gives the fifteen calendar days notice on or before the last day of the probationary period, but less than fifteen calendar days in advance of that date, the probationary period shall be extended fifteen days from the date of the notice and the employee shall not attain permanent status. This extension shall not apply to employees serving a twelve month probationary period.

(b) The Director may restore the name of a dismissed probationary appointee who has been dismissed to the register from which he or she was certified, in accordance with the procedure described in subsection 12.7 of this rule, but the Director shall not in the future certify the name of that person to the same appointing authority from the same register.

Section 11. Promotions, Demotions and Transfers

11.1. Method of Making Promotions

(a) In filling vacancies, appointing authorities shall make an effort to achieve a balance between promotion from within the service and the introduction into the service of qualified new employees. Whenever practical and in the best interest of the service, an appointing authority may fill a vacancy by promotion, after consideration of the eligible permanent employees in the agency or in the classified service based on demonstrated capacity and quality and length of service.

(b) The Director must certify that a candidate for promotion possesses the qualifications for the position as set forth in the specifications for the class of position for which he or she is a candidate, and the appointing authority may require the candidate to qualify for the new position by a promotional competitive or non-competitive examination administered by the Director.

11.2. Promotion by Competitive Examination

(a) If it is determined by the appointing authority to fill vacancies in a particular class of position by promotion by competitive examination, the examination shall be given under the direction of the Director. To be eligible for promotion, an employee must, at the time the promotion is effective, have permanent status and must meet the minimum qualifications as to training and experience for the class of position. A promotional competitive examination shall consist of any combination of the following: written tests, ratings on training and experience, evaluation of recorded service ratings and seniority, performance tests and oral examinations. The combination in each case and the procedure for the determination of the passing grade shall be announced by the Director in advance of the examination, and shall take into consideration approved practices.

(b) The Director shall place the names of all employees who receive a passing grade on a promotional register for the class of position in order of their examination ratings.

(c) If a promotional and an original register exist, the Director shall certify the same number of names from each register in accordance with Section 8 of this rule. The appointing authority may make his or her selection from the names submitted from either register, giving such preference to present employees as the good of the service will permit.

11.3. Promotion by Noncompetitive Examination - If it is determined by the appointing authority to fill a vacancy by a non-competitive promotional examination, an employee proposed for promotion shall be examined by the Director in accordance with subsection 11.2 of this rule, and if found to qualify for the class will be certified.

11.4. Demotions - There are two types of demotion, demotion with prejudice and demotion without prejudice. A demotion with prejudice is a reduction in pay and/or a change in classification job class to a lower classification job class due to the inability of an employee to perform the duties of a classification position or for improper conduct. A demotion without prejudice is a change in classification job class of an employee to a lower classification job class, a transfer of an employee to a lower classification job class, or a reduction in the employee's pay due to business necessity. An appointing authority may demote a permanent employee after presenting the employee with the reasons for the demotion stated in writing, and allowing the employee a reasonable time to reply in writing, or upon request to appear personally and reply to the appointing authority or his or her designee. The appointing authority shall file the statement of reasons for the demotion and the reply with the Director of Personnel. An appointing authority may demote a probationary employee as provided for in subsection 10.4 of this rule.

11.5. Lateral Class Change - An appointing authority may move a permanent employee from a position in one class to a vacant position in another class in the same pay grade if the employee is found by the Director to qualify for the vacant position.

11.6 Transfers

(a) Except as otherwise provided in subsection 10.4 of this rule, appointing authorities may transfer a permanent employee from a position in one organizational subdivision of an agency to a position in another organizational subdivision of the same or another agency at any time. In the case of inter-agency transfers, an appointing authority shall transfer all hours of accumulated annual and sick leave and all service credit with the employee. An appointing authority shall not treat an inter-agency transfer as a resignation and shall not require an employee transferring inter-agency to submit a resignation letter except when the employee is resigning from a classified position to accept employment in a classified-exempt position.

(b) Appointing authorities shall report all inter and intra-agency transfers within a class to the Director on appropriate forms at the time of the transfer. The Director shall approve transfers to comparable classes prior to the transfers and shall require that the employee meet the minimum qualifications of the new class.

Section 12. Separations, ~~Termination~~ Suspension, and Reinstatement

12.1. Resignations - An employee who resigns shall present the reasons for the resignation in writing to the appointing authority. The appointing authority shall forward a copy of the resignation to the Director of Personnel who shall record the resignation. If a written resignation cannot be obtained, the appointing authority shall notify the Director of Personnel in writing of the resignation of the employee and the circumstances of the resignation. The appointing authority shall not treat an intra-agency nor an inter-agency transfer as a resignation except when the employee is resigning from a classified position to accept employment in a classified-exempt position.

12.2. Dismissals

(a) ~~Fifteen (15) calendar days after notice in writing to an employee stating specific reasons, the~~ An appointing authority may dismiss any employee for cause. Prior to the effective date of the dismissal, the appointing authority or his or her designee shall: meet with the employee in a predetermination conference and advise the employee of the contemplated dismissal; give the employee oral notice confirmed in writing, or written notice of the specific reason or reasons for the dismissal; and, give the employee a minimum of fifteen calendar days advance notice of the dismissal to allow the employee a reasonable time to reply to the dismissal in writing, or upon request to appear personally and reply to the appointing authority or his or her designee. The appointing authority shall file the reasons for dismissal and the reply, if any, with the Director of Personnel. A predetermination conference and fifteen days notice is are not required when the public interests are best served by withholding the notice or when the cause of dismissal is gross misconduct. An appointing authority may dismiss an employee after oral notice stating specific reasons, confirmed in writing, when the dismissed employee's action(s) constitute a threat to the safety or welfare of persons or property.

(b) An appointing authority may require that an employee dismissed for cause immediately vacate the workplace, or an employee dismissed for cause may elect to do so. If the appointing authority requires a dismissed employee to immediately vacate the workplace in lieu of any advance notice of discharge working during the notice period, or if an employee who receives notice of dismissal for cause elects to immediately vacate the workplace, the employee is entitled to receive severance pay attributable to the time he or she otherwise would have worked, up to a maximum of fifteen calendar days after vacating the workplace. Receipt of severance pay does not affect any other right to which the employee is entitled with respect to the dismissal.

(c) An appointing authority may dismiss an employee for job abandonment who is absent from work for more than three consecutive workdays without notice to the appointing authority of the reason for the absence as required by established agency policy. The dismissal is effective fifteen calendar days after the appointing authority notifies the employee of the dismissal. Under circumstances in which the term job abandonment becomes synonymous with the term resignation, an employee dismissed for job abandonment is not eligible for severance pay.

12.3. Suspension - ~~Eight (8) calendar days after oral notice confirmed in writing or by written notice, the~~ An appointing authority may suspend any employee without pay for cause or to conduct an investigation regarding an employee's conduct which has a rational nexus reasonable connection to the employee's performance of his or her job. The suspension shall be for a specific period of scheduled work time, except where an employee is the subject of an indictment or other criminal proceeding. Accrued leave shall not be paid to employees during any period of suspension. Prior to the effective date of the suspension, the appointing authority or his or her designee shall: meet with the employee in a predetermination conference and advise the employee of the contemplated suspension; give the employee oral notice confirmed in writing, or written notice of the specific reason or reasons for the suspension; and, give the employee a minimum of three working days advance notice of the suspension to allow the employee being suspended a reasonable time to reply in writing, or upon request to appear personally and reply to the appointing authority or his or her designee. ~~The eight (8) calendar day~~ A predetermination conference and three working days advance notice ~~is~~ are not required for employees in certain cases when the public interests are best served by withholding the notice. The appointing authority shall file the statement of reasons for the suspension and the reply, if any, with the Director of Personnel.

12.4. Layoff

(a) When it becomes necessary by reason of shortage of work or funds, abolition of position, material changes in duties or organization, or to permit reinstatement of employees released from periods of military service in the armed forces of the United States or to implement the provisions of this subdivision, the appointing authority may initiate a layoff in accordance with the provisions of this rule.

(b) Organizational Unit. The appointing authority shall submit to the State Personnel Board for approval a description of the unit or units to which a layoff will apply. The organizational unit may be an entire agency, division, bureau, or other organizational unit.

(c) Prior to the separation or involuntary demotion without prejudice of any employee by layoff, the appointing authority shall file with the Director a proposed plan which shall include:

1. a statement of the circumstances requiring the layoff;
2. the approved organizational unit(s) in which the proposed layoff will take place; and,
3. a list of the employees in each class affected by the layoff in order of retention.

(d) It is the duty of the Director to verify the details on which the lists are based and to notify the appointing authority in writing of the plan's approval.

(e) The plan followed by the appointing authority shall be available, upon request in writing, to any employee or adversely affected former employees.

(f) Order of Separation. After the appointing authority has determined the number of positions to be abolished and the Board has approved the organizational unit to which the layoff will apply, the order of separation shall be applied in the following manner:

1. employees without permanent status in the same class or classes identified for layoff in the following order: emergency, ninety-day exempt, student, seasonal, contract, intermittent, temporary, exempt part-time professional, provisional, and probationary.

2. permanent employees by job class on the basis of tenure as a permanent employee of a state agency or in the classified service regardless of job class or title. No tenure credit accrues for periods during which terminal annual leave is paid nor for periods during which an employee is not paid a wage or salary except for military leave, educational leave, or periods during which the employee is paid temporary total disability benefits under the provisions of WV Code §23-4-1 for a personal injury received in the course of and resulting from covered employment as a permanent employee of a state agency or in the classified service, or unless otherwise provided by State or Federal statute. In the event of a tie in the order of separation, the appointing authority or his or her representative and those employees who are tied shall agree on a means of breaking the tie by either a coin toss or lot drawing and shall notify the Director in writing of the agreement and the results.

(g) Bumping Rights. A permanent employee who is to be laid off may request a lateral class change or an involuntary demotion without prejudice to a job class in a lower pay grade in the occupational group in the same unit approved by the Board for reduction in force unless the results would be to cause the layoff of another permanent employee who possesses greater seniority than the employee who is exercising the request for lateral class change or involuntary demotion without prejudice. The employee requesting the lateral class change or involuntary demotion without prejudice must be available for the work schedule and at the work location of the job to which he or she has requested the change or demotion. A permanent employee who is laid off under these provisions as a result of another employee having a greater seniority requesting a lateral class change or demotion with prejudice has the same ~~right of demotion or reassignment~~ bumping rights as provided for in this procedure. The Director shall develop the occupational groups in the classified service based on similarity of work and required knowledges, skills and abilities.

(h) Salary Reductions for Layoff. Salary reductions resulting from provisions of this subdivision shall follow subsection 5.6 of this rule for pay on demotion.

(h i) Recall. Recall of a permanent employee shall be to the agency as a whole and in reverse order of the layoff to the class from which the employee was laid off or any lower class in the class series or to any class previously held in the occupational group. A permanent employee shall remain on the recall list for the length of his or her tenure on the date of the layoff or for a period of two years, whichever is less. The agency shall first consider for reemployment those former permanent employees whose names appear on the recall list for the class in which a vacancy has occurred and no original appointment of a new employee or reinstatement of a former permanent employee shall be made to the class until all former permanent employees on the recall list have been given first chance of refusal of the vacancy. A permanent employee shall be recalled to jobs within the county wherein his or her last place of employment is located or within a contiguous county. The agency shall notify any laid off permanent employee who is eligible for recall to a position under these provisions by certified mail of the vacancy. It is the responsibility of the employee to notify the agency of any change in mailing address.

(i j) Preference Hiring. Public Hearing on the Proposed Amendments to the Administrative Rule of the Division of Personnel
July 15, 2004 at 2:00 p.m.

Chairman Eugene Stump: It's 2:00 p.m. on Thursday, July 15th and it's my pleasure to call to order the Board of Personnel for the state of West Virginia for the transaction of any business that may lawfully come before it. The first thing on the agenda is a public hearing on, the first one is the amendments to the Administrative Rule of the Division of Personnel and anybody who would like to speak on that. We have Mr. James Wells, citizen and public employee that has requested to speak, Mr. Wells

James Wells: Thank you sir, I have a handout for members of the Board, and three issues my comments will be focused on, but first of all, the booklet is set out, has written oral comments on each item, it has written comments and it has proposed changes to the Administrative Rule. The three areas are what we'll just briefly call Family care, Wellness and Domestic Violence issues. I recognize that these are public policy issues and they need the highest level of review in the governmental process but that policy making review has to have a beginning, it has to have a starting place. I'm going to suggest that today is that day. If we are to insure that we are an employer of choice five and ten years down the road we must be putting some provisions in place that at least incrementally that will be insured.

Studies have shown that there's three key processes in organization there are people, strategy and operations and it's been shown that people are the most important, our workforce. West Virginia state government must now begin planning for the staffing needs of the next five to ten years, we must do that now. A conference board survey found that 56% of today's workers nationwide are unhappy and that 80% are unhappy with the work and life balance. Aggressive measures are needed today in order to retain the workers of tomorrow. Between 1970 and 1990 on a national basis, the number of single parent families with children under the age of 18 grew from 3.8 million to 9.7 million. It's estimated that 22% of the American population can be classified as the sandwich generation, meaning they are raising their children and taking care of aging parents at the same time. Two thirds of the baby boom generation will care for elderly parents in the next ten years and some of us already are. The average woman spends 17 years raising a child and can expect to devote 18 years to taking care of an elderly parent. Baby boomers are the first generation to be living while four or five generations of living relatives in the same household and that is common. The frailties of old age and higher incidents of divorce that's resulting in households that include grandchildren, children, baby boomers, elderly parents and extended family living arrangements, these are growing in great numbers. The next 15 years the 78 million baby boomers which make up 29% of the population will leave the workforce, taking with them industry and organizational knowledge. On the other hand, generation X, which makes up 16% of the population will be moving in. The gap leads the forecast of severe worker shortages and heavy competition for the employees. If we don't begin to plan strategically now, to retain some of the baby boomers, most baby boomers said they will continue to work but it will be at a place of employment of their choice. We have to be able to be that employer of their choice and attract that limited talent that we're going to be having a damage to our delivery of services to the citizens of this state in state prisons, state hospitals, state parks and all the other customers that we serve. Our knowledge is the most valuable asset of government, the knowledge of our workers and we must be, take action to entice retirees to stay an opportunity to provide mechanisms for attracting the talent of the future. State government has already lived through a massive loss of the historical and operational knowledge in the year 1989. We need to learn from that, we had a brain drain in 1989. That's my term I lived through it, knowledge walked out the door on the early retiree program and we may never see that type of retiree program again but with the baby boomer generation in the next 5 to 10 years we may still experience the same brain drain unless we can put some things in place to keep some of them and attract workers of the future to be truly the employer of choice down the road.

Family care providing greater flexibility in the use of sick leave balances for family health care would allow the employee to fulfill his or her family obligations and make responsible decisions regarding the value of accrued leave for current health care needs of the immediate family member versus the value of accrued leave at retirement. The five day allowance for family sick leave assuredly is inadequate for the sandwich generation. An employee who bears responsibility for the health care of both children and elderly parents five days to care for them in a twelve month period is surely inadequate. The baby boomer generation is striving to care for children and aging parents while fully meeting their work obligations. To allow employees greater flexibility to care for family members may allow for earlier treatment and intervention of chronic health conditions improving the health of many state residents and reducing direct and indirect costs which will have a direct impact on our PEIA program for those insured. You'll see proposals there to improve, increase the family sick leave allowance from the current total of five work days for a routine family illness and health care. A proposal to allow the use of paid sick leave for immediate family members with an FMLA qualifying illness beyond the five days, expand the definition of immediate family, provide for flex-time, tele-commuting and other modified work schedules and an overall endorsement of job sharing and part-time work schedules through cafeteria plan benefit options on a pro-rata basis. That's the item of family care.

In wellness area, we recognize that in 2004 the state legislature acknowledged the health of the economy of West Virginia is reflected in the health of its children, families and workers. The legislature recognizes good health as basic human need. Obesity and its impact on the family is an important concern to our state legislature. The state can have significant impact on many families in West Virginia with the development of obesity prevention, smoking cessation and other health related programs. The state can have significant impact on the needed lifestyle changes through an aggressive wellness program that will educate parents and set an example for other major employers to follow. According to the Center for Disease Control, a statewide obesity prevention partnership is necessary to efficiently address the problems resulting from the obesity epidemic in West Virginia. A statewide wellness initiative and the proactive action of various state agencies is necessary to efficiently address obesity, smoking and other health related issues common to our citizens. In this regard the proposal is that we, the Division of Personnel, taking this concern play a roll and assist other agencies with their specific missions through assistance in the areas of education, diligent health care and healthy activities. Specific proposals are to provide for agency development of wellness programs, mandate PEIA oversight of an agency sponsored wellness program, permit paid time off for employee health assessment prior to any physical exertion in the state agency wellness program and establish parameters for the employee paid time off for participation in PEIA endorsed wellness programs.

In the area of domestic violence, or actually I should say, prevention of. Studies conducted in February of this year domestic violence perpetrators that activities that occur in the workplace found that, this is based on a study out of the Maine Department of Labor, 74% had easy access to the victim's workplace, 21% had contacted the victim at the workplace in violation of a no contact order, 75% of the victims are harassed on the job by the abuser either in person or by telephone. About 18,700 incidents of workplace violence are committed by someone who they've had an intimate relationship with. 75 to 90% of all hostages taken in the United States are related to domestic violence situations. Most batterers don't exhibit the generalized violence. 19% of the batterers reported a workplace accident or near miss due to thinking about the relationship. The person conducting the abuse, the perpetrator wasn't even there but their mind was off and not paying attention. 19% reported an accident due to their mind wandering. Domestic violence victims lost a total of nearly, this is nationwide, 8 million days of paid work, the equivalent of 32,000 full time jobs. Domestic violence results in lost productivity through chronic absenteeism, tardiness and excessive requests for time off. Distraction and inefficient work habits due to stress, fear or fatigue work interruptions by the batterer need to deal with family safety issues and increased turnover. 56 to 64% of battered women were an hour late for work 5 times per month on a nationwide study. 42% were late to work, 75% of the victims were harassed on the job by the abuser either in person or by telephone. 21% of the batterers had contacted the victim at the workplace in violation of a protective order. 75% of the batterers used work resources to contact or check on the victim 48% of the batterers have difficulty concentrating at work 36% of sexual assault victims lost more than 10 days of work after being attacked in 2000. 24 to 30% of abused working women reported losing their jobs due to domestic violence situations. The Division of Personnel can have an impact on this issue and raise awareness of the need for all employers in the state of West Virginia and all agencies in West Virginia state government to do whatever is within their power to address the issue impacting primarily women and their children. The Division of Personnel already is partnering with the Division of Corrections and the West Virginia Coalition Against Domestic Violence and developing a training session for our managers and supervisors on this session, half day session. Making a large impact on the awareness of the issue within West Virginia and educating managers and supervisors to respond appropriately and serve as an example here for the private sector in West Virginia. Specific examples, proposals are to permit paid time off using hearing leave for the employee/victim to take formal legal actions necessary to obtain a safe living environment for himself or herself or a dependent immediate family member. Additionally, the proposal is to require supervisors to approve emergency annual leave or leave without pay at the employee/victim's option to seek professional assistance due to domestic violence. The third proposal in this regard is to permit the use of sick leave when either the employee/victim or employee/perpetrator is obtaining specialized assistance and yes we do have employed in our 22,000 sadly the perpetrators also. If they can acknowledge that they are then we should be allowing them and encouraging them to use their sick leave for their healing. The cause and the effect of domestic violence requires unique psychological assistance from qualified programs and such assistance is directly related to the health and the well being of the employee victim and dependents.

In closing, I think that we need to look at these public policy issues. Looking five, ten years to the future and this is the beginning time to talk about these type of issues in the public policy forum. I thank you for the opportunity for making my remarks as a citizen and a public employee, thank you.

Chairman Stump: Thank you Mr. Wells. Is there anybody else who wishes to speak that's all I have listed on the amendments to the Administrative Rule. If there isn't then the meeting will be closed. Written comments will be accepted until, as long as they are postmarked by midnight tonight. The hearing on that is now closed.

Dear Ms. Fredricks,

As Chairman of the State Personnel Board, I wish to thank you for taking time to review the proposed amendments to the Division of Personnel Administrative Rule and to comment on an issue of interest to you. I am pleased to provide the following response to your comments.

Nationwide, state governments are known for their generous leave benefits, and West Virginia's are among the most generous. In 2004, West Virginia state government employees will receive 15 paid days off for holidays, 18 paid days of earned sick leave, and (based on the current average of 12 years of tenure for a state employee) 21 paid days of earned annual (i.e., personal) leave – a total of 54 days of paid leave. Based on the statewide average daily payroll, each day of paid leave costs $3,030,965; annually the cost is $163,672,110.

In addition to paid leave, the Administrative Rule provides state employees with six months of medical leave without pay and personal leave without pay at the employer's discretion. State employees are also covered by a Leave Donation Program and both the State's Parental Leave Act and the Federal Family and Medical Leave Act.

While there are many reasons employees may need or want to take time off from work, and while many of these reasons are very compelling, it is the position of the Division of Personnel that the current leave provisions more than adequately cover all of these contingencies. When the cost of paid leave is also taken into consideration, the Division cannot, in good faith, recommend any additional paid leave without a comprehensive study of both the need for the proposed leave and the short- and long-term fiscal implications of the added cost of such leave.

Again, thank you for your participation in the process to amend this rule. Mr. Farley,

You may or may not be aware that West Virginia has one of the highest Domestic Violence homicide rates in the country. The Governor's Family Violence Coordinating Council in partnership with the West Virginia Coalition Against Domestic Violence, the West Virginia Division of Corrections and other arms of Government have a continuous goal of creating a "Safer State of Family for West Virginia". In doing so, we realize that many victims of domestic violence have a variety of critical needs in order to keep them and their children safe.

I would respectfully request that the Division of Personnel through the Administrative Rule, carefully develop policy that recognizes leave needs of state employees who are victims of domestic violence. Many times victims and/or children have not only the need for medical treatment, but also, the ability to relocate in order to obtain a safe haven for themselves and their children.

I understand that such policy will need to be carefully crafted so that it is not subject to misuse, but insures that the state of West Virginia recognizes and provides for the critical needs for victims of domestic violence.

In closing, please give my apologies to the Personnel Board, that I am unable to attend this Public Hearing. I thank you and the Board for taking into consideration and creating policy that helps facilitate a "Safer State of Family" for the citizens of West Virginia.

Respectfully submitted,

Wyetta Fredericks

Dear Mr. Black,

As Chairman of the State Personnel Board, I wish to thank you for taking time to review the proposed amendments to the Division of Personnel Administrative Rule and to comment on an issue of interest to you. I am pleased to provide the following response to your comments.

We believe the proposed revisions to subdivision 14.1 should adequately address your concerns. While the circumstances of irregular part-time employment complicate the compensation of such employees for holidays, they must, in all fairness, be compensated in the same manner as regular part-time employees. For practical purposes, the calculation of the pro-rated holiday entitlement should be based on an employee's full-time equivalent (i.e., FTE or time worked as compared to the employer's standard workweek for a full-time employee). For an irregular part-time employee, the FTE may need to be adjusted at the end of the fiscal year when the actual time worked (not to exceed 40 hours in the workweek) is known.

Again, thank you for your participation in the process to amend this rule. In the next step of this process, the Agency Approved Proposed Rule (which will include any additional and modified amendments) will be filed with the Secretary of State and the Legislative Rule-Making Review Committee by August 27, 2004. MEMORANDUM

TO: Max Farley
Division of Personnel

FROM: Jeff Black, Director JB
Human Resources Division

SUBJECT: ADMINISTRATIVE RULE

This is in reference to the request for comments on the proposed changes to the Administrative Rule.

Under Section 14.1(c), the Division of Highways suggests that the language be structured in some way to indicate that part time employees are eligible for time off with pay in proportion to the amount of time they would have worked in the week of the holiday as if the holiday had not occurred, as compared to the employer's standard work week.

In practice, our part time permanent employees do not always work the same schedule or number of hours each week. It has in the past been very confusing as to the number of hours for which employees should be compensated for holidays. The above language would help clarify the method by which such time off with pay would be calculated.

Thank you for your attention to this matter.

Dear Ms. Evans,

As Chairman of the State Personnel Board, I wish to thank you for taking time to review the proposed amendments to the Division of Personnel Administrative Rule and to comment on an issue of interest to you. I am pleased to provide the following response to your comments.

Nationwide, state governments are known for their generous leave benefits, and West Virginia's are among the most generous. In 2004, West Virginia state government employees will receive 15 paid days off for holidays, 18 paid days of earned sick leave, and (based on the current average of 12 years of tenure for a state employee) 21 paid days of earned annual (i.e., personal) leave – a total of 54 days of paid leave. Based on the statewide average daily payroll, each day of paid leave costs $3,030,965; annually the cost is $163,672,110.

In addition to paid leave, the Administrative Rule provides state employees with six months of medical leave without pay and personal leave without pay at the employer's discretion. State employees are also covered by a Leave Donation Program and both the State's Parental Leave Act and the Federal Family and Medical Leave Act.

While there are many reasons employees may need or want to take time off from work, and while many of these reasons are very compelling, it is the position of the Division of Personnel that the current leave provisions more than adequately cover all of these contingencies. PUBLIC HEARING COMMENTS

Domestic Violence

Domestic Violence is a serious and pervasive illness to society that spreads from generation to generation and impacts the formative and developmental lives of our children and the future of the State. Domestic Violence is a societal issue with extensive governmental responsibility to address both the incidence of the violence and also the aftermath to the victims and the circle of impact. Each and every citizen of this State is impacted by the results of Domestic Violence and each and every citizen carries a responsibility to protect the innocent and intervene for the victim whenever possible. For this reason, I recommend changes to the Division of Personnel's Administrative Rule to acknowledge the issue of domestic violence and provide appropriate mechanisms for State agencies to respond as employers to both victims and perpetrators of Domestic Violence. State government, as the largest employer in the State, has the opportunity and responsibility to increase awareness of this serious issue and set a standard for the private sector to follow.

In 1997, West Virginia law enforcement agencies received approximately 10,000 complaints of domestic violence.¹ "In 1999, 43.7% of homicides occurring in West Virginia involved victims of family/domestic violence."² In fiscal year 2000-2001, licensed domestic violence programs in West Virginia provided services to nearly 18,201 persons.³ A domestic homicide occurs in West Virginia approximately every 14 days.⁴

In a survey on the increase in incidences of family violence, Straus and Gelles reported the rate of husband-to-wife violence was 113 per 1000 couples.⁵ A slightly more recent survey by The Commonwealth Fund reported 84 of every 1000 women living with or married to a man reported abuse in the last year.⁶ Applying these statistics to the "community of State employment" it can be predicted that 1,680 to 2,260 State employees are experiencing violence in their domestic relationships.

In West Virginia Code § 48-27-101, our Legislature has declared:

- "Every person has a right to be safe and secure in his or her home and family and to be free from domestic violence;
- Domestic violence can be deterred, prevented or reduced by legal intervention that treats this problem with the seriousness that it deserves; and
- Domestic violence is a major health and law-enforcement problem in this state with enormous costs to the state in both dollars and human lives."

For State government, as an employer and as a public service provider, there are both direct and indirect costs due to domestic violence.

1. Productivity: Productivity losses account for $1.8 billion each year according to a report by the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention.⁵

Employee-Victim – Various statistics show:

- 56-64% of battered women arrive at work an hour late five times per month⁶
- 36% of sexual assault victims lost more than 10 days of work after the attack, in 2000⁷
- 24-30% of abused women reported losing their jobs due to the domestic violence⁸
- 75-90% of all hostages taken in the United States are related to domestic violence⁹

Employee-Perpetrator – A recent 2004 study of batterer's activities while at work released by the Maine Department of Labor and Family Crisis Services included:

- 75% used work time to express remorse/anger, check-up-on, pressure or threaten the victim
- 42% were late to work¹⁰

2. Health Care Costs: "The medical-related costs of physical acts of domestic violence exceed $5.8 billion each year. The absences from work resulting from obtaining the medical services need also add to the indirect expenses of domestic violence. Of this total, nearly $4.1 billion is for direct medical and mental health care services."⁵ Health Affairs Magazine reports that 1.5 million women seek medical treatment for injuries related to abuse each year.¹¹

3. Employer Liability: The likelihood of murder of battered women by their abusers increases after they have taken action to end the relationship. When domestic violence is acknowledged and the victim takes action to protect him or herself, their personal endangerment and the employer's risk rises. It is essential that the employer take necessary measures to increase the victim's safety at the workplace. Employers need to provide employee victims the opportunity, in whatever way possible, to reveal his or her situation so the security can be enhanced and protective measures taken. Likewise, the employer must also appropriately deal with the perpetrator's activities while on company time. A 2004 study of domestic violence perpetrators revealed that impact on the workplace by the offenders included:

- 73% of supervisors were aware of the offender's arrest but only 15% told the employee that domestic abuse is a crime¹²
- Less than 10% of batterers have poor impulse control. Domestic violence is a planned pattern of coercive control, a chosen behavior¹³

4. Mission-Based Services of State Governments: The effect of domestic violence impacts State government and the citizens-tax payers of this State in a multitude of ways. Domestic violence underlies many other medical and social services issues that are the responsibility of government. Government service areas of responsibility and accountability include:

Police, Criminal Justice, Legal Services: Police response and arrests; prison and detention; probation and parole; prosecution in criminal, civil, family or juvenile court; custody litigation; and child support enforcement.

- $15,513 was the average annual cost per inmate for all State and Federal correctional facilities (nationwide) in 1990, according to the U.S. Department of Justice
- 20,170 male prisoners were incarcerated for harming an intimate partner in 1991¹⁴

Social Services: Domestic violence intervention, prevention education, emergency hotlines, victim and perpetrator counseling, job training, advocacy programs, and training costs for police and medical personnel.

Medical Services: Medicaid, free clinics, teen pregnancy, and infant toxicology screenings.

Protective Services: Child protective services, foster care; adult protective services; counseling and juvenile intervention, rehabilitation or detention.

- 50% of the 256,000 children in foster care (1995 estimate) are victims of child abuse¹⁵
- 45-59% of child abuse cases involve the mother also being abused¹⁶
- $2.5 billion in federal foster care expenditures under Title IV-E in 1993¹⁵
- New York State spends $13,600 per child per year for foster care, excluding protective services¹⁷
- 20% of men who were violent toward women partners had physically abused a child according to various research; some studies estimated a 50-75% incidence rate.

Society: Impact on the general public includes unemployment, under-employment, charitable giving, volunteer activities, emergency hotlines, and run-away children to name a few.

5. Safety: Domestic violence shelters in West Virginia provided 15,203 nights of emergency shelter to 1442 children, in addition to the domestic violence victims in fiscal year 1998-99.¹⁸ Other necessary living needs are provided by governmental or nonprofit groups and includes 13 around-the-clock emergency shelters, public housing, employment programs, job training, public assistance, food stamps, and governmental works programs.

- 41% of homeless women in family shelters report that they have been battered¹⁹
- 15-32% of women receiving public assistance are current victims of physical abuse²⁰
- $68 per person per day for housing and services expended by The Women Against Abuse Center in Philadelphia, a relatively well-funded shelter. Nationally representative cost figures for shelters are unavailable.²¹

Domestic Violence is a crime predominately against women and children. Ninety percent of single-parent families are headed by females and single mothers with dependent children have the highest rate of poverty across all demographic groups. Approximately 60 percent of U.S. children living in mother-only families are impoverished, compared with only 11 percent of two-parent families.²² While the mother-only households clearly are not all the result of Domestic Violence, financial dependency upon the perpetrator is one tactic commonly used by batterers used to control the victim. Any measures that can be taken by employer's to assist the victim in protecting his or her family's physical well being and financial security will increase the likelihood that escape may be possible and the Domestic Violence cycle broken.

It makes obvious financial and moral sense that the State address the issue of Domestic Violence in every way possible. The Department of Administration and the Division of Personnel are service agencies. Our role in government is to provide support to the other mission specific agencies and facilitate the accomplishment of their goals. Any activities that we can undertake to assist the agencies will increase our value to both government and the citizens of the State and improve our image. The changes recommended to the Administrative Rule will have little financial impact on the operations of State government, but will have a significant impact on the lives of the few that can and do take advantage of the opportunities provided. The changes recommended also provide agencies with information, not otherwise available, that will facilitate their ability to take protective and security measures necessary to protect the victim, co-workers, and control work behaviors of the batterer.

There are several ways that State government, as an employer, can address the issue of domestic violence.

- The Division of Personnel, in partnership with the Division of Corrections and the West Virginia Coalition Against Domestic Violence, is currently developing a half-day training session for management staff. It is believed that this activity will make a large impact on awareness of the issue within West Virginia, educate managers and supervisors to respond appropriately, and serve as an example for private sector employers. Similar training can and should be developed for rank and file employees to enhance the community awareness of the problem and guide employees in constructive ways in which a co-worker may appropriately address or respond to suspected or actual cases of domestic violence including child abuse.
- Additionally, it is estimated that 25% of workplace issues such as absenteeism, lower productivity, turnover and excessive use of medical benefits are due to family violence. State government can also address these issues by defining appropriate use of leave benefits in domestic violence situations and documentation required.

The Administrative Rule can be revised to insure an employee's ability to seek help for Domestic Violence issues:

- Add the legal definition of domestic violence;
- Permit paid time off using hearing leave for the employee-victim to take the legal actions necessary to obtain a safe living environment for himself or herself or a dependent immediate family member. Permitting the use of hearing leave for appropriate legal action encourages seeking police protection and documentation of the problem for the victim and dependents, provides an avenue of assistance to the victim in developing a safety plan, and also places the agency on notice that enhanced work place security measures may be appropriate. Specific recommendations include the following changes to the Administrative Rule:
- Require supervisors to approve "emergency" annual leave or leave without pay, at the employee-victim's option, to seek professional assistance due to domestic violence. In view of the number of victims that reported losing their jobs due to domestic violence, such leave should be allowed and permitted without documentation as leave abuse.
- Permit the use of sick leave when either the employee-victim or employee-perpetrator is obtaining specialized assistance. The cause and effect of domestic violence requires unique psychological assistance from qualified programs and such assistance is directly related to the health and well-being of the employee-victim and dependents.

Dear Mr. Wells,

As Chairman of the State Personnel Board, I wish to thank you for taking time to review the proposed amendments to the Division of Personnel Administrative Rule and to comment on issues of interest to you. I am pleased to provide the following response to your comments.

Nationwide, state governments are known for their generous leave benefits, and West Virginia's are among the most generous. In 2004, West Virginia state government employees will receive 15 paid days off for holidays, 18 paid days of earned sick leave, and (based on the current average of 12 years of tenure for a state employee) 21 paid days of earned annual (i.e., personal) leave – a total of 54 days of paid leave. PUBLIC HEARING WRITTEN COMMENTS
FAMILY CARE
(Childcare/Eldercare)

With passage of the Parental Leave Act in 1989, the State legislature recognized that the dual income nature of family life in West Virginia has placed a strain on State employees' ability to meet the medical and nurturing needs of their children. The legislature chose to provide employees with additional opportunities to meet the needs of family without putting their jobs at risk. On the federal level, Congress also recognized this need in 1993, and enacted the Family Medical Leave Act (FMLA).

Increasing opportunities for employees to use accrued and unused sick leave in conjunction with FMLA may impact productivity, however, the right to be absent already exists under both federal and State law. It does not increase any monetary benefit already accruing, but does allow greater use of accrued sick leave benefits where a serious family need exists. Under Generally Accepted Accounting Practices (GAAP), each employee's standing sick leave balance currently represents an unfunded State liability. The sick leave benefit for State employees can be utilized as personal or family medical needs arise throughout the employee's career and any standing balance can be converted to paid-up insurance premiums or additional State service upon retirement.

Providing greater flexibility in the use of sick leave balances for family healthcare needs allows the employee to fulfill his or her family obligations and make responsible decisions regarding the value of the accrued leave for current healthcare needs of an immediate family member versus the value of the accrued leave at retirement. The health of West Virginia's populace has been reported as the worst in the nation in several categories, including obesity and far worse than the national average in many other areas. Adequate healthcare is an issue impacting governmental health insurance costs and quality of life, in addition to direct employment issues, such as attendance and productivity.

Preventative healthcare, early medical intervention and health education are all well-documented methods of improving the lives of the citizenry and reducing healthcare costs to employers and employees alike. Currently, the capacity to seek preventative and immediate-need health care is limited in the Administrative Rule to only members of the employee's immediate family and to five days of paid sick leave per year. For the average family that includes two children, this barely allows for preventative dental and physician appointments twice a year and little or no paid time off for sports physicals and any illness that may require parental attention or medical care. The five day allowance most assuredly is inadequate for the "sandwich generation" employee who bears responsibility for the healthcare of both children and elderly parents. The Baby Boomer generation is striving to care for children and aging parents, while fully meeting work obligations. This is the first generation where single parenting and working wives have significantly impacted the ability of care givers to meet the needs of the dependant family members. Ninety percent of single-parent families are headed by females (Kirby).

To allow employees greater flexibility to care for family members may allow for earlier treatment and intervention of chronic health conditions, improve the health of many State residents, and also reduce direct and indirect costs of poor health of State employees and their families.

There are a variety of ways that the Administrative Rule can be revised to improve an employee's ability to obtain better health care for immediate family members:

- Increase the family sick leave allowance (paid sick leave) from the current total of five work days per year for routine family illnesses and health care
- Allow the use of paid sick leave for immediate family members with a FMLA-qualifying illness
- Expand the definition of Immediate Family
- Provide for flextime, telecommuting and other modified work schedules
- Endorse job sharing and part-time work schedules through cafeteria plan benefit options on a pro-rata basis

PUBLIC HEARING WRITTEN COMMENTS
WELLNESS PROGRAMS

The 2004 State Legislature acknowledged that “the health of the economy of West Virginia is reflected in the health of its children, families, and workers.” The Legislature recognizes good health as a basic human need. They have resolved that health care should be a primary social benefit, similar to education and police protection, essential for community stability and economic development.

Obesity is one major health care issue in this State that has low cost intervention options. According to the National Center for Chronic Disease Prevention and Health Promotion, nationally the prevalence of obesity is growing rapidly.¹ West Virginia’s statistics on obesity reflect this same trend, almost doubling from 15% in 1990 to 27.5% in 2002.² The obesity rate among West Virginia adults is now considered to be at epidemic levels.³ Additionally, another 36% of West Virginia’s population is reported as being overweight.¹ The obese and overweight, a total of 64% of West Virginia’s adults, are at risk for or already have serious health conditions that impact their overall finances, productivity and quality of life. In addition, according to the WV Department of Health and Human Resources, 40% of West Virginia’s children are found to be either overweight or obese and 22% of middle and high school students report that they engage in little or no strenuous physical activities. Less than 40% of these students are able to pass the President’s Physical Fitness Test.⁴

“Despite the proven benefits of physical activity, more than 60% of American adults do not get enough physical activity to provide health benefits. Unhealthy diet and physical inactivity play an important role in many chronic diseases and conditions, including type II diabetes, hypertension, heart disease, stroke, breast cancer, colon cancer, gall bladder disease, and arthritis.”¹ During the 2004 Legislative session, the House noted that “the deleterious effects of obesity on chronic disease risks; its multiplicity of causes; its persistence from childhood into adulthood . . . all argue for increased attention to the healthy prevention of excessive weight gain starting as early in life as possible.”⁵

The Legislature has determined that “the health care crisis in this State can be effectively addressed and resolved through the determination of various State agencies.”⁶ Reversing these current trends . . . will require a multi-faceted approach as well as active participation of health officials, researchers, educators, and legislators in the formulation of obesity prevention programs.⁵ This societal challenge can be dealt with through a host of treatments such as, but not limited to: family education; physical activity; healthy nutrition; behavior modification; public health resources; and policy development.⁵

The cost of health care is growing at a faster rate than any other expense item.⁴ Health spending accounts for nearly 15% of the nation’s economy, the largest share on record, and is rising at a rate far faster than inflation.⁶ Nationwide, each year, over $33 billion in medical costs and $9 billion in lost productivity (due to heart disease, cancer, stroke, and diabetes) are attributed to poor eating habits.¹ According to 2002 statistics of the National Center for Chronic Disease Prevention and Health Promotion, 64% of West Virginians were at risk for health problems related to being overweight and 28% were at risk for smoking-related illnesses.¹ Medical costs are a huge financial burden to all the citizens of West Virginia, including those with medical benefits and those using various governmental programs or free treatment options.⁴ For West Virginia State government, as an employer, the cost of health care is a large drain on State resources in financial costs, human resource productivity costs, and service obligations.

It is a goal of the Public Employees' Insurance Agency to introduce low-cost or no direct cost wellness programs and positive lifestyle change programs (smoking cessation, weight-loss, nutrition, and exercise) to State insurance enrollees. If successful such programs dealing with individual health management and control of chronic illnesses can have a dramatic impact on the upward spiral of insurance premiums and healthcare costs for State employees. Wellness programs may also increase productivity of the work force through reduced absences due to illness, medical treatments and family care. It is estimated by the Centers for Disease Control that if "10% of adults began a regular walking program, $5.6 billion in heart disease costs could be saved."¹

This health crisis is impacting the economic stability of our families and our children's futures. The Legislature, in 1989, addressed one growing crisis in the State affecting the stability of our families. The Parental Leave Act, West Virginia Code § 21-5D-1, addressed the need for the love, nurture, and education of our children by providing an employee up to 12 weeks of leave to tend to the needs of his or her family. Of equal importance is the prevention of the incapacitation of a parent or child due to a treatable condition caused by poor lifestyle choices.

Clearly, obesity and its impact on the family is an important concern of the State Legislature. The State, as one of the largest employers, can have a significant impact on many families in West Virginia with the development of obesity prevention, smoking cessation, and other health related programs.⁵ These programs including but not limited to: family education; physical activity; healthy nutrition; and behavior modification, can be delivered directly to employees at little or no direct cost. The greatest impact to reducing childhood obesity will be through the education and healthy lifestyles of their parents. The State, as an employer, can have a significant impact on the needed lifestyle changes through an aggressive Wellness Program that will educate parents and set an example for other major employers to follow. According to the Centers for Disease Control, "A statewide obesity prevention partnership is necessary to effectively address the problems resulting from the obesity epidemic in West Virginia."⁷ A statewide wellness initiative and the proactive action of all agencies is necessary to effectively address obesity, smoking and other health related issues common to the citizens of this State.

The state of physical health of the citizens of this State impacts the overall economy of the State in a multitude of ways. A healthy economy requires healthy and productive citizens. Chronic illness and disability impacts our ability to educate our children, to provide current and potential employers with a productive work force, to provide efficient and effective governmental services, to provide and fund adequate health care. Poor health of the majority of the population base impacts the ability of the healthy and productive to care for the chronically incapacitated and disabled.

Many agencies must be involved in a serious initiative to educate and motivate the citizens of the state to improve their health. Each agency bears a responsibility to participate in the objectives of the government. This is one concern of the Legislature that the Division of Personnel can play a role and assist other agencies with their specific missions through assistance in the areas of education, diligent healthcare and healthy activities.

RECOMMENDATIONS:

- Provide for agency development of Wellness Programs
- Mandate PEIA's over-sight of any agency sponsored Wellness Programs
- Permit paid time off for employee health assessment prior to any physical exertion in State agency Wellness Programs
- Establish parameters for employee's paid time off for participation in PEIA endorsed Wellness Programs

PUBLIC HEARING WRITTEN COMMENTS
DOMESTIC VIOLENCE

Nearly one in three women reports having been kicked, hit, choked, or otherwise physically abused by a significant other at some point in her life.¹ Domestic violence accounts for 21% of the violent crimes experienced by women in the United States, and two percent of violent crimes against men. Thirty percent of female murder victims and six percent of male murder victims in the United States are killed by people with whom they have had an intimate relationship.² "In 1999, 43.7% of homicides occurring in West Virginia involved victims of family/domestic violence."³

Governor Wise has proclaimed, "it is fitting to set aside special time to bring this issue, i.e. Domestic Violence, to the attention of all West Virginians so they can become better informed about and involved in programs to eliminate this epidemic from our society . . ."⁴ In 2001, the Governor issued an Executive Order stating, "WHEREAS, there is a need to increase public and professional awareness of the complex dynamics of family/domestic violence and its prevention; to train and offer technical assistance to communities and professionals who handle issues of family violence; to collect, analyze and disseminate data and information regarding family violence; and to analyze existing policies, services and resources and determine what is necessary to prevent family and domestic violence . . ."⁵ Additionally, the Legislature has gone on record as assuring "victims of domestic violence the maximum protection from abuse that the law can provide."⁶

Domestic Violence is a societal issue that affects all citizens. It is just as importantly an issue requiring the attention and appropriate response from employers.

1. EMPLOYER LIABILITY: Employers are responsible to provide safe working conditions for both the employee-victim and co-workers. Employers bear the liability for any incidents of violence, whether domestic or not, that may occur at the workplace. It is essential that employers take any necessary measures to insure the safety of all employees while at the workplace. This mandate is especially difficult if the employer is unaware that a domestic violence victim is currently employed. The employer needs to be aware of the situation in order to make any changes necessary to insure the safety of the victim and other staff. Any procedure that may alert the employer to such risk, at the employee's choice, will facilitate the increased surveillance and security that may be needed. Likewise, the employer must also appropriately deal with the perpetrator's activities while on company time. A study conducted in February of this year of domestic violence perpetrators' activities in the workplace was released by the Maine Department of Labor and Family Crisis Services. Facts of significant importance to employers regarding batterers include:

- 74% had easy access to the victim's workplace⁷
- 21% had contacted the victim at the workplace in violation of a no-contact order⁷
- 75% of victims are harassed on the job by the abuser either in person or by telephone⁸

- About 18,700 incidents of workplace violence are committed by an intimate⁹
- 75-90% of all hostages taken in the U.S. are related to domestic violence situations¹⁰
- Most batterers don't exhibit "generalized violence"¹¹
- 19% reported a workplace accident or near miss due to thinking about the relationship¹²

2. WORK PRODUCTIVITY: According to the Centers for Disease Control, domestic violence victims lose a total of nearly 8.0 million days of paid work, the equivalent of more than 32,000 full-time jobs.¹³ In the workplace, domestic violence results in lost productivity through chronic absenteeism, tardiness, and excessive requests for time off; distraction and inefficient work habits due to stress, fear or fatigue; work interruptions by the batterer; need to deal with family safety issues; and increased turnover. The impact of domestic violence on the work productivity of the employee and co-workers make this issue one of concern for all employers. Significant impact on the workplace included:

- 56-64% of battered women were an hour late for work five times per month¹⁴
- 42% of batterers were late to work¹²
- 75% of victims are harassed on the job by the abuser either in person or by telephone⁸
- 21% of batterers had contacted the victim at the workplace in violation of a protective order¹²
- 75% of batterers used work resources to contact or check on the victim¹²
- 48% of batterers had difficulty concentrating at work¹²
- 36% of sexual assault victims lost more than 10 days of work after being attacked in 2000¹⁵
- 24-30% of abused working women reported losing their jobs due to the domestic violence situation¹⁶

3. HEALTH CARE: The estimated health-related costs of sexual and physical assault, stalking, and homicide by intimate partners include nearly $4.1 billion for direct medical and mental health care.¹³ For the employer, the health care required impacts productivity and also the costs of insurance premiums for all the insured in the plan. The average charge for medical service to abused women, children, elders, and men is $1,633 per person per year, excluding psychosocial or follow-up care, based on a study published in 1992 and conducted at Rush Medical Center.¹⁷ Increased medical expenses affect the employer's and the employee's expenses through increased insurance premiums, health care costs, and possible benefit reductions.

4. MISSION-BASED SERVICES OF STATE GOVERNMENT: It is also important to remember that the effect of domestic violence impacts State government and the citizens-tax payers of this State in a multitude of other ways separate from, but no less important than, the issue of managing the human capital of the employer, the State of West Virginia. The Division of Personnel is but one small part of the administration of State government as an employer. It's primary function is to assist the other agencies in meeting their goals and fulfilling their purposes. Domestic violence is a component in a number of the responsibilities and financial obligations of State government. Every State agency should do whatever is proper to assume part of the responsibility for meeting the mission of State government as a whole. Domestic violence places a burden on many governmental agencies including but not limited to:

- Police, Criminal Justice, Legal Services
- Social Services
- Medical Services
- Adult and Child Protective Services

The actions that the Division of Personnel is capable of taking, while minor and may only benefit a few, can have an impact on the issue and raise awareness of the need for all employers and all agencies to do whatever is within their power to address this issue impacting primarily the women and children of this State. Even one small action can have a rippling effect throughout the State.

5. SAFETY: Domestic violence services are available in every county in the State and include shelters, emergency hotlines, support services, legal advocacy, counseling, battered women's support groups, and children's services. Thirteen community-based programs provide emergency shelters around the clock. Both federal, Violence Against Women Act of 1994, and State law make domestic violence a crime with both civil and criminal penalties.

RECOMMENDATIONS:

There are several ways that State government, as an employer, can aid in addressing the issue of domestic violence. The Division of Personnel, in partnership with the Division of Corrections and the West Virginia Coalition Against Domestic Violence, is currently developing a half-day training session for management staff. It is believed that this activity will make a large impact on awareness of the issue within West Virginia, educate managers and supervisors to respond appropriately, and serve as an example for private sector employers.

Additionally, it is estimated that 25% of workplace issues such as absenteeism, lower productivity, turnover and excessive use of medical benefits are due to family violence. State government can also address these issues by providing for and defining appropriate use of leave benefits in domestic violence situations. Additionally, permitting use of hearing leave for appropriate legal action provides some degree of safety, to the victim and dependents, and also places the agency on notice that enhanced security measures may be appropriate. Specific recommendations include:

- Permit paid time off using hearing leave for the employee-victim and dependents to take formal legal actions necessary to obtain a safe living environment for himself or herself or a dependent immediate family member
- Require supervisors to approve "emergency" annual leave or leave without pay, at the employee-victim's option, to seek professional assistance due to domestic violence
- Permit the use of sick leave when either the employee-victim or employee-perpetrator is obtaining specialized assistance. The cause and effect of domestic violence requires unique psychological assistance from qualified programs and such assistance is directly related to the health and well-being of the employee-victim and dependents

Ms. Sharon Horn
West Virginia Division of Personnel
1900 Kanawha Boulevard, East
Charleston, West Virginia 25305

Dear Ms. Horn,

As Chairman of the State Personnel Board, I wish to thank you for taking time to review the proposed amendments to the Division of Personnel Administrative Rule and to comment on issues of interest to you. I am pleased to provide the following response to your comments.

Nationwide, state governments are known for their generous leave benefits, and West Virginia's are among the most generous. In 2004, West Virginia state government employees will receive 15 paid days off for holidays, 18 paid days of earned sick leave, and (based on the current average of 12 years of tenure for a state employee) 21 paid days of earned annual (i.e., personal) leave – a total of 54 days of paid leave. Based on the statewide average daily payroll, each day of paid leave costs $3,030,965; annually the cost is $163,672,110.

In addition to paid leave, the Administrative Rule provides state employees with six months of medical leave without pay and personal leave without pay at the employer's discretion. State employees are also covered by a Leave Donation Program and both the State's Parental Leave Act and the Federal Family and Medical Leave Act.

While there are many reasons employees may need or want to take time off from work, and while many of these reasons are very compelling, it is the position of the Division of Personnel that the current leave provisions more than adequately cover all of these contingencies. In the two specific instances you mention: 1) employers are required to grant annual leave for the illness of an immediate family member if the employee has already used his or her 40 hour allowance of sick leave; and, 2) we are not aware of any instance in which an employee has been denied the use of annual leave in conjunction with the 3-day sick leave allowance for the death of an immediate family member. When the cost of paid leave is also taken into consideration, the Division cannot, in good faith, recommend any additional paid leave without a comprehensive study of both the need for the proposed leave and the short- and long-term fiscal implications of the added cost of such leave.

Again, thank you for your participation in the process to amend this rule. In the next step of this process, the Agency Approved Proposed Rule (which will include any additional and modified amendments) will be filed with the Secretary of State and the Legislative Rule-Making Review Committee by August 27, 2004. It will also be posted on our web site at www.state.wv.us/admin/personnel. The Agency Approved Proposed Rule should be considered by the Legislative Rule-Making Review Committee at interim meetings tentatively scheduled for September and/or October. If you have additional comments, you may direct them to Debra Graham, Counsel, Legislative Rule-Making Review Committee, Building 1, Room MB-49, 1900 Kanawha Boulevard, East, Charleston, West Virginia 25305.

MEMORANDUM

TO: Members, State Personnel Board

FROM: Sharon L. Horn, employee,
WV Department of Administration

RE: WRITTEN COMMENTS - PUBLIC HEARING
WV Division of Personnel's Administrative Rule

DATE: July 15, 2004

This is to request that the Board members consider the following suggested revisions to the West Virginia Division of Personnel's Administrative Rule:

- Increase the family sick leave allowance for the illness and/or routine medical appointments for an employee's immediate family.

The current Administrative Rule, at Section 14.4 (f)6 states:

Absence for illness or routine medical and dental appointments of a member of an employee's immediate family as defined in this rule, including reasonable travel time, if requested, not to exceed a total of three hours per occurrence, shall be charged to accrued sick leave, not to exceed 40 hours per calendar year.

The forty-hour family sick leave allowance is inadequate to meet the increasing demands placed on employees who, in addition to their own children's medical needs, must care for frail, elderly parent(s). Family sick leave is charged to the employee's accrued sick leave balance; therefore, if sufficient leave is available, he or she should be permitted to use it for this necessary reason.

- Increase the "bereavement" leave allowance.

The current Administrative Rule, at Section 14.4(f)2 states:

Death in the immediate family of the employee - Sick leave shall be granted up to 3 days to an employee for the death of a member of his or her immediate family as defined in this rule.

The three-day bereavement allowance is simply not sufficient for an employee to cope with the trauma, shock and emotional distress caused by the death of a close loved one. In addition to the final arrangements, time is needed for the employee to deal with the many aspects associated with the loss. Again, if the employee has a sufficient accrued sick leave balance, he or she should be permitted extra time before returning to work.

Thank you for your consideration of my comments.
