LEGISLATIVE RULE
WEST VIRGINIA STATE POLICE

SERIES 3
WEST VIRGINIA STATE POLICE CAREER
PROGRESSION SYSTEM

Summary of Proposal

Permanent Rank Promotions, Eligibility Requirements – Subsection 4.1.1.a.

The proposed changes would allow uniform members of the West Virginia State Police who hold the Non-supervisory Rank of Trooper First Class (TFC) who have completed seven years service the ability to test for the supervisory rank of Sergeant.

Permanent Rank Promotions, Eligibility Requirements – Subsection 4.1.1.c.

The proposed changes would allow uniform members of the West Virginia State Police who hold the supervisory rank of First Sergeant the ability to test for the supervisory rank of First Lieutenant when promotional cycles are initiated by the Superintendent after the First Sergeant completes a mandatory six-month probationary period. In recent years, eligibility to test for the rank of First Lieutenant required that First Sergeants must have been in that rank for a least one year.

Permanent Rank Promotions, Practical Examination – Subsection 4.2.2.b.

The proposed changes would reduce the maximum amount of points a supervisory promotional candidate could receive for the oral assessment (interview) phase of the practical examination from 20 points to 15 points.

Physical Fitness Tests – Section 3.6 and Subsections 4.2.2.e, 5.1.3 and 7.1.6.

Subsection 4.2.2.e. – The proposed changes would enhance the value of points received for the physical fitness test administered by the West Virginia State Police, which contributes to the final composite score for a supervisory promotional candidate. Currently, candidates for supervisory promotional consideration receive one half point for each event (pushups, sit ups and one and one half mile run) successfully completed for a maximum total of 4.5 points a candidate could receive toward their final composite score. The proposed changes would allow one point for each successfully completed event for a total of 9 points to be awarded to a candidate for promotional consideration.

Subsection 5.1.3 and 7.1.6 – The proposed changes would require certain members participating in the Non-supervisory Rank Classification System and certain members appointed to the Administrative Support Specialist Classification System to successfully complete and pass physical fitness tests to be eligible for reclassification within each system.

Firearms Qualification – Subsection 3.5.3 and 4.2.3.h.

Subsection 3.5.3 – The proposed change would require members participating in any sub-system within the Career Progression System to achieve a minimum score of 75 percent on the most recent firearms qualification examination during annual in-service training at the State Police Academy.

Subsection 4.2.3.h – The proposed change would grant members participating in the Supervisory Filed Promotional System points toward their composite score based upon their firearms proficiency. This proposed change would grant a promotional candidate 1.5 points, not to exceed 3.0 points during the two-year period prior to the initiation of a promotional cycle based upon the score they receive during firearms qualification during annual in-service training.

Removal of Old Language – Legislative Rule 81CSR3

There are several sections and subsections within the rule that refers to procedures to be followed prior to January 1, 2012. These sections and subsections have strikethroughs.

Statement of Circumstances

Permanent Rank Promotions, Eligibility Requirements – Subsection 4.1.1.a.

The proposed changes would allow uniform members of the West Virginia State Police who hold the Non-supervisory Rank of Trooper First Class (TFC) who have seven years service the ability to test for the supervisory rank of Sergeant. In recent years, eligibility to test for the rank of Sergeant has been limited to those holding the Non-supervisory rank of Corporal or TFC with nine years of service. This practice has limited the Department's ability to identify an adequate amount of qualified supervisory candidates to fill vacancies within the agency. Allowing TFC's with seven years service to test for Sergeant will enhance the applicant pool, which will allow the Superintendent to adequately fill first level supervisory vacancies.

Permanent Rank Promotions, Eligibility Requirements – Subsection 4.1.1.c.

The proposed changes would allow uniform members of the West Virginia State Police who hold the supervisory rank of First Sergeant the ability to test for the supervisory rank of First Lieutenant when promotional cycles are initiated by the Superintendent after the First Sergeant completes a mandatory six-month probationary period. In recent years, eligibility to test for the rank of First Lieutenant required that First Sergeants must have been in that rank for a least one year. This practice has limited the Department's ability to identify an adequate amount of qualified candidates to fill First Lieutenant vacancies within the agency. Allowing non-probationary First Sergeants to test for First Lieutenant will enhance the applicant pool, which will allow the Superintendent a greater ability to fill First Lieutenant vacancies when they occur.

Permanent Rank Promotions, Practical Examination – Subsection 4.2.2.b.

The proposed changes would reduce the maximum amount of points a supervisory promotional candidate could receive for the oral assessment (interview) phase of the practical examination from 20 points to 15 points. The oral assessment process is the most subjective part of the promotional testing process because the candidate's score is based upon the educated and collective opinion of the assessment panel grading the candidate's oral communication skills. A significant percentage of the overall assessment process is found in the oral assessment phase. A reduction in points in this area from 20 to 15 would still provide a significant percentage of the overall composite score, but not to the extent it currently does.

Physical Fitness Tests – Section 3.6 and Subsections 4.2.2.e, 5.1.3 and 7.1.6.

Subsection 4.2.2.e. – The proposed changes would enhance the value of points received for the physical fitness test administered by the West Virginia State Police, which contributes to the final composite score for a supervisory promotional candidate. Currently, candidates for supervisory promotional consideration receive one-half point for each event (pushups, sit-ups and one and one half mile run) successfully completed for a maximum total of 4.5 points a candidate could receive toward their final composite score. The proposed changes would allow one point for each successfully completed event for a total of 9 points to be awarded to a candidate for promotional consideration.

Subsection 5.1.3 and 7.1.6 – The proposed changes would require certain members participating in the Non-supervisory Rank Classification System and certain members appointed to the Administrative Support Specialist Classification System to successfully complete and pass physical fitness tests to be eligible for reclassification within each system.

The West Virginia State Police believes physical fitness is a necessary component to the overall wellness of its Troopers and is a critical job skill to possess that enhances officer safety, reduces stress and increases productivity. The proposed changes would help foster a culture of physically fit officers that will benefit both the agency and the citizens it serves.

Firearms Qualification – Subsection 3.5.3 and 4.2.3.h.

Subsection 3.5.3 – The proposed change would require members participating in any sub-system within the Career Progression System to achieve a minimum score of 75 percent on the most recent firearms qualification examination during annual in-service training at the State Police Academy.

Subsection 4.2.3.h – The proposed change would grant members participating in the Supervisory Filed Promotional System points toward their composite score based upon their firearms proficiency. This proposed change would grant a promotional candidate 1.5 points, not to exceed 3.0 points during the two-year period prior to the initiation of a promotional cycle based upon the score they receive during firearms qualification during annual in-service training.

The West Virginia State Police believes firearms proficiency is a necessary component in the overall ability of a law enforcement officer. The use of firearms within the State Police is strictly regulated to lethal force situations where the member reasonably believes the use of a firearm is necessary to protect his/her life, to protect the life of another, to stop a fleeing suspect whose escape would result in death or serious bodily injury to other law enforcement officers or innocent persons or to euthanize an injured animal. While these occurrences are rare, the use of firearms as a lethal force option has great consequence to the agency and the public at large if the member using the firearms does not maintain a satisfactory level of proficiency. Members participating in any subsystem within the rule should maintain a satisfactory level of proficiency with the use of their issued firearm(s) and should be given merit for satisfactorily demonstrating that proficiency. Members who do not satisfactorily maintain their firearms proficiency would not be allowed to participate in the system under this rule until a satisfactory score is achieved and may be subject to other department sanctions outside the scope of this rule.

4.5.4. Identical composite scores and tiebreakers.

If two members requesting consideration for promotion to a position with a designated rank of First Sergeant or Second Lieutenant achieve identical composite scores, time-in-grade and then longevity will be used as the tiebreaker. If all factors are identical, members will be ranked according to their score on the written examination.

4.5.4.c. If two members requesting consideration for promotion to a position with a designated rank of First Lieutenant achieve identical composite scores, any Second Lieutenant will be ranked ahead of any First Sergeant, then time-in-grade and then longevity will be used as the tiebreaker. TITLE 81
WEST VIRGINIA STATE POLICE

SERIES 3
WEST VIRGINIA STATE POLICE CAREER
PROGRESSION SYSTEM

Statement of Circumstances

Permanent Rank Promotions, Eligibility Requirements – Subsection 4.1.1.a.

The proposed changes would allow uniform members of the West Virginia State Police who hold the Non-supervisory Rank of Trooper First Class (TFC) who have seven years service the ability to test for the supervisory rank of Sergeant. In recent years, eligibility to test for the rank of Sergeant has been limited to those holding the Non-supervisory rank of Corporal or TFC with nine years of service. This practice has limited the Department's ability to identify an adequate amount of qualified supervisory candidates to fill vacancies within the agency. Allowing TFC's with seven years service to test for Sergeant will enhance the applicant pool, which will allow the Superintendent to adequately fill first level supervisory vacancies.

Permanent Rank Promotions, Eligibility Requirements – Subsection 4.1.1.c.

The proposed changes would allow uniform members of the West Virginia State Police who hold the supervisory rank of First Sergeant the ability to test for the supervisory rank of First Lieutenant when promotional cycles are initiated by the Superintendent after the First Sergeant completes a mandatory six-month probationary period. In recent years, eligibility to test for the rank of First Lieutenant required that First Sergeants must have been in that rank for a least one year. This practice has limited the Department's ability to identify an adequate amount of qualified candidates to fill First Lieutenant vacancies within the agency. Allowing non-probationary First Sergeants to test for First Lieutenant will enhance the applicant pool, which will allow the Superintendent a greater ability to fill First Lieutenant vacancies when they occur.

Permanent Rank Promotions, Practical Examination – Subsection 4.2.2.b.

The proposed changes would reduce the maximum amount of points a supervisory promotional candidate could receive for the oral assessment (interview) phase of the practical examination from 20 points to 15 points. The oral assessment process is the most subjective part of the promotional testing process because the candidate's score is based upon the educated and collective opinion of the assessment panel grading the candidate's oral communication skills. A significant percentage of the overall assessment process is found in the oral assessment phase. A reduction in points in this area from 20 to 15 would still provide a significant percentage of the overall composite score, but not to the extent it currently does.

Physical Fitness Tests – Section 3.6 and Subsections 4.2.2.e, 5.1.3 and 7.1.6.

Subsection 4.2.2.e. – The proposed changes would enhance the value of points received for the physical fitness test administered by the West Virginia State Police, which contributes to the final composite score for a supervisory promotional candidate. Currently, candidates for supervisory promotional consideration receive one-half point for each event (pushups, sit-ups and one and one half mile run) successfully completed for a maximum total of 4.5 points a candidate could receive toward their final composite score. The proposed changes would allow one point for each successfully completed event for a total of 9 points to be awarded to a candidate for promotional consideration.

Subsection 5.1.3 and 7.1.6 – The proposed changes would require certain members participating in the Non-supervisory Rank Classification System and certain members appointed to the Administrative Support Specialist Classification System to successfully complete and pass physical fitness tests to be eligible for reclassification within each system.

The West Virginia State Police believes physical fitness is a necessary component to the overall wellness of its Troopers and is a critical job skill to possess that enhances officer safety, reduces stress and increases productivity. The proposed changes would help foster a culture of physically fit officers that will benefit both the agency and the citizens it serves.

Firearms Qualification – Subsection 3.5.3 and 4.2.3.h.

Subsection 3.5.3 – The proposed change would require members participating in any sub-system within the Career Progression System to achieve a minimum score of 75 percent on the most recent firearms qualification examination during annual in-service training at the State Police Academy.

Subsection 4.2.3.h – The proposed change would grant members participating in the Supervisory Filed Promotional System points toward their composite score based upon their firearms proficiency. This proposed change would grant a promotional candidate 1.5 points, not to exceed 3.0 points during the two-year period prior to the initiation of a promotional cycle based upon the score they receive during firearms qualification during annual in-service training.

The West Virginia State Police believes firearms proficiency is a necessary component in the overall ability of a law enforcement officer. The use of firearms within the State Police is strictly regulated to lethal force situations where the member reasonably believes the use of a firearm is necessary to protect his/her life, to protect the life of another, to stop a fleeing suspect whose escape would result in death or serious bodily injury to other law enforcement officers or innocent persons or to euthanize an injured animal. While these occurrences are rare, the use of firearms as a lethal force option has great consequence to the agency and the public at large if the member using the firearms does not maintain a satisfactory level of proficiency. Members participating in any subsystem within the rule should maintain a satisfactory level of proficiency with the use of their issued firearm(s) and should be given merit for satisfactorily demonstrating that proficiency. Members who do not satisfactorily maintain their firearms proficiency would not be allowed to participate in the system under this rule until a satisfactory score is achieved and may be subject to other department sanctions outside the scope of this rule.

Removal of Old Language – Legislative Rule 81CSR3

There are several sections and subsections within the rule that refers to procedures to be followed prior to January 1, 2012. These sections and subsections have strikethroughs.

Subject: physical fitness & fire arms training

Sir;

I believe if fire arms qualifications were included in the promotion process for points, when troopers attend in service they will take the qualification more serious and maybe even take it upon themselves to spend more time to improve. I am an army veteran and in the army you receive points for three different levels of qualification, ie. marksman, sharp shooter and expert. I believe anyone can improve and excel in weapon qualifications and if they have an incentive they will.

HAND DELIVERED

The West Virginia Troopers Association Board of Directors has reviewed the proposed changes to Title 81, Series 3 and opposes the majority of the requested changes within the proposed rule as currently proposed. The proposed changes are contrary to the scope and meaning of the rule as outlined within 81-3, section 3.1. This rule is promulgated for the purpose of ensuring consistency, predictability and review of the West Virginia State Police Career Progression System.

The changes requested within Subsection 4.1.1.a, 4.1.1.c, 4.2.2.b, 3.6, 5.1.3 and 7.1.6 are contrary to the consistent and predictable career progression system that has been established for the West Virginia State Police.

The West Virginia Troopers Association agrees that the changes proposed in subsection 4.2.2.e which increases the amount of promotional points received for the physical fitness test administered by the West Virginia State Police which are events that are currently in place within the legislative rule are consistent with the rule.

The West Virginia Troopers Association disagrees with the majority of the proposed rule changes and asks that as per WV Code 15-2-5(b) that the legislative rule ensure the consistency and predictability within the career progression system.
