TITLE 110
LEGISLATIVE RULE
TAX DEPARTMENT

SERIES 1L

~~REPEAL OF VALUATION OF INTANGIBLE PERSONAL PROPERTY INCLUDING STOCK, ACCOUNTS RECEIVABLE AND STOCK IN BANKS AND CAPITAL OF SAVINGS AND LOAN ASSOCIATIONS FOR AD VALOREM PROPERTY TAX PURPOSES~~

~~§110-1L-1. General.~~

~~1.1. Scope. -- These regulations clarify and implement state law as it relates to the appraisal at market value of certain species of intangible personal property. Because these regulations provide context modifications of relevant parts of 110 C.S.R. 1 and such regulations with context modifications were adopted by the Tax Commissioner, W. Va. Code §11-1C-5(b) eliminates the requirement that this filing be subject to the procedural requirements in W. Va. Code §29A-3-1 et seq.~~

~~1.2. Authority. -- W. Va. Code §11-1C-1 et seq.~~

~~1.3. Filing Date. -- July 26, 1991~~

~~4.2. Considerations. — Criteria applicable in determining whether intangible property has a tax situs in West Virginia includes the following:~~

~~4.2.1. All intangible personal property owned by natural persons who are residents of West Virginia is considered to have a taxable situs in this State (regardless of where such intangible property was originally acquired or where it is currently physically located) unless the owner establishes that it has a tax situs in another state and that ad valorem property taxes are actually paid in that other state.~~

~~4.2.2. All intangible property held or controlled by an administrator, executor, trustee, guardian, receiver or other fiduciary domiciled in this State is considered to have a taxable situs in this State (regardless of where such intangible property was originally acquired or where it is currently located) unless such person establishes that it has a tax situs in another state and that ad valorem property taxes are actually paid in that other state.~~

All intangible personal property owned by a domestic corporation or by a foreign corporation having its commercial domicile in West Virginia, is considered to have a taxable situs in this State; Provided, That any intangible property of such corporations which (i) has acquired a business situs in another state, and (ii) is lawfully subjected to that state's intangible property tax is not subject to appraisal in West Virginia.~~

~~4.2.4. In the case of a foreign corporation having its commercial domicile outside of West Virginia, any intangible personal property acquired in the conduct of business activities carried on in this State, is considered to have a taxable situs in West Virginia. Specifically, accounts receivable, notes receivable and~~

~~other evidences of debt of such foreign corporations doing business in West Virginia are considered to have a taxable situs in this State, regardless of where they were approved or evidence thereof is currently located if such debt or debts were created or acquired as a result of any one (1) or more of the following:~~

~~5.1. Notes:~~

~~5.1.1. Valuation of notes unsecured by realty. - The value of a note is presumed to be the amount of the unpaid principal as of the valuation date. The taxpayer may establish a lesser value by submitting to the Tax Commissioner satisfactory evidence that the note is worth less than the unpaid amount because of the debtor's insolvency or similar reason.~~

~~5.1.2. Valuation of notes secured by realty. - All notes for the payment of money which are secured by a written lien upon West Virginia real property shall be valued at the principal amount of the indebtedness evidenced by the note. The principal amount of indebtedness shall equal the amount of the loan financed, including any miscellaneous charges included in the amount financed, but shall not include unearned and unaccrued interest over the term of the loan. Such value may be reduced if the taxpayer submits to the Tax Commissioner satisfactory evidence that the note's face value is not the market value of the note.~~

~~5.1.3. Accrued interest. - Any accrued interest due on a note that is not paid on or before the valuation date, shall be included when determining the appraised value of the note.~~

110CSR1L

~~5.1.4. Burden of proof. -- The burden of proof shall be on the person seeking a lower or higher value than that determined under the preceding paragraphs to show by cogent evidence that such value is not the market value of the note.~~

~~5.2. Bonds and debentures.~~

~~5.2.1. The appraised value of bonds and debentures which are listed and traded on a security exchange is the closing price of such bonds and debentures as quoted by the exchange on the valuation date.~~

~~5.2.2. The appraised value of bonds and debentures traded over the counter is the closing bid price as quoted by the over-the-counter market on the valuation date.~~

~~5.2.3. If bonds and debentures are not regularly traded and quoted values are not available, the appraised value is the amount of the unpaid principal or face amount of the bond or debenture, unless cogent evidence is furnished to prove that the actual value is different than that amount.~~

~~5.2.4. Any accrued interest due on bonds and debentures should be included in determining their appraised value.~~

~~5.2.5. The burden of proof shall be on the person seeking a lower or higher value than that determined under the preceding paragraphs to show the cogent evidence that such value is not the market value of the bond or debenture.~~

~~5.2.6. When the valuation date is not a business day, then the closing price on the last business day preceding the valuation date shall be the appraised value.~~

~~5.2.7. The value of debt obligations of the State of West Virginia and its political subdivisions, the United States of America, and agencies of the State of West Virginia and the United States of America, shall be exempt from taxation, unless the issuing authority consents to the taxation of its obligations.~~

~~5.3. Bills and accounts receivable.~~

~~5.3.1. The appraised value of all accounts receivable is the face value of such receivables as reflected on the books and records of the owner.~~

~~5.3.2. In determining the face value of accounts receivable, a reasonable deduction will be allowed for uncollectible accounts, provided such deduction is based on generally accepted accounting principles.~~

~~5.3.3. The appraised value of any account receivable which is in dispute or which is due from a party whose solvency is doubtful shall be estimated at its probable value.~~

~~5.3.4. Any accrued interest due on accounts receivable should be included in determining the appraised value of such receivables.~~

110CSR1L

or account receivable.

5.4. Shares of stock. (Except bank stock.)

5.4.1. The appraised value of stocks listed and traded on a stock exchange is the closing price of such stocks on the valuation date as quoted by the stock exchange.

5.4.2. The appraised value of stocks traded over the counter is the closing "Bid Price" on that valuation date as quoted by over the counter security dealers.

5.4.3. If stocks are not listed or regularly traded on the open market, the appraised value shall be appraised by determining an average (weighted by the volume of sales) between the highest and lowest prices in arms-length sales during a reasonable period before the valuation date.

5.4.4. If the appraised value of stocks cannot be established by use of Section 5.4.1, 5.4.2 or 5.4.3 of these regulations, an appraised value should be determined in accordance with generally accepted appraisal principles, giving consideration to such factors as adjusted book value, corporate earnings, nature and history of the business, dividend record, and comparison with the market price of stocks of comparable businesses.

5.4.5. Generally no reduction is allowed in determining the appraised value of shares of stock because they are unregistered or restricted as to right of sale. However, there may be situations where some discount should be allowed in order to determine that marked value of stock. The burden of proof shall be on the owner or holder thereof to prove by cogent evidence that a discount should be allowed and what the amount thereof should be.

5.4.6. The so-called "Blockage Rule" (a reduction in the value of shares of stock due to the number or volume of shares owned) will generally not be used in establishing appraisal value. However, there may be situations where some discount should be allowed in order to determine the market value of the stock. The burden of proof shall be on the owner or holder thereof to show by cogent evidence that a discount should be allowed and the amount of the discount.

5.4.7. The appraised value of shares of stock will generally not be increased or decreased because such shares represent either a majority or minority interest. However, there may be situations where some discount should be allowed in order to determine the market value of the stock. The burden of proof shall be on the owner or holder thereof to prove by cogent evidence that a discount should be allowed and the amount of the discount.

5.4.8. If listed market values or quotations are not used to compute the appraisal value of shares of stock, a statement should be attached to the property tax report explaining the method used in appraising or determining the appraised value of such stocks.

5.4.9. Indebtedness incurred to purchase shares of stock may not be considered as a deduction in determining the appraised value of such shares.

5.4.10. The burden of proof shall be on the person seeking a lower or higher value than that determined under the preceding paragraphs to show by cogent evidence that such value is not the market value of the stock.

~~5.5. Shares of bank stock.~~

~~5.5.1. West Virginia bank stock. W. Va. Code §11-3-14 (1933) requires that the value of shares of stock in a West Virginia banking institution, national banking association or industrial loan company shall be ascertained according to the best information which the appraiser may obtain. ~~5.5.1.1. A proportion share of the value of real estate owned by a West Virginia banking institution, national banking or industrial loan company shall be deducted from the total value of the bank stock (determined before any decreasing modification is made). Real estate shall be valued in the same manner as other commercial real property.~~

~~5.5.1.2. In order to eliminate the direct or indirect effect which debt obligations of the United States that are exempt from property taxes have on the value of bank stock, a proportionate share of the value of such debt obligation of the United States, shall be deducted from the total value of the bank stock (determined before any decreasing modification is made).~~

~~5.5.2. Out-of-state bank stock:~~

~~5.5.2.1. Bank stock in banks, banking institutions and banking associations held by West Virginia residents representing ownership in banks located outside the State of West Virginia shall be valued in the same manner as stock held in West Virginia banks.~~

~~5.5.2.2. Whenever the stock represents ownership in banks located outside the State of West Virginia, and such stock is subject to intangible personal property tax by another state, with such taxes actually paid to such other state, the stock shall not be valued for taxation in this State.~~

~~5.6. Stock or capital of West Virginia building and loan associations and savings and loan associations. W. Va. Code §11-3-14a (1959) requires that the capital of West Virginia building and loan and savings and loan associations, and federal savings and loan associations, as well as the capital of such associations located in other states, shall be valued in the same manner as out-of-state bank stock.~~

~~5.7. Other similar intangible personal property:~~

~~5.7.1. The appraisal value of "Other Similar Intangible Personal Property" for which specific valuation procedures are not provided shall be determined in accordance with generally accepted appraisal principles. Established market values shall be used for intangible property regularly traded (e.g. stock, bonds, etc.). Otherwise, factors customarily considered in determining intrinsic value shall be used.~~

~~5.7.2. Burden of proof. The burden of proof shall be on the person seeking a lower or higher value than that determined under the preceding paragraph to show by cogent evidence that such value is not the market value of the property.~~

~~§110-1L-6. Taxpayer Return.~~

~~6.1. The Tax Commissioner shall print taxpayer return forms. Such forms shall be furnished to each assessor who will distribute said forms to taxpayers for completion and return.~~

~~6.2. To assure equality and uniformity in administration, no assessor or taxpayer shall substitute or supplement any other form for the Tax Commissioner's prescribed returns, without the prior approval of the Tax Commissioner. All such approvals granted by the Tax Commissioner prior to the effective date of this rule is hereby withdrawn.~~

~~6.3. All banks and savings and loan associations, shall prepare property tax returns in duplicate. Drawer 2389, State Capitol, Charleston, West Virginia 25305.~~

~~6.5. All other property appraisal returns required by this rule shall be filed no later than November 1st of each year.~~

Summary for Repeal of 110-1L
