STATEMENT OF CIRCUMSTANCES

Proposed Legislative Rule Change Filed June, 2005 for 2006 Legislature

Title 26, Series 5- Certified Animal Euthanasia Technicians

After changing the drug of choice for injectable animal euthanasia by CAET's in 2005, there were some who indicated their preference as Sodium Pentobarbital instead of Sp compound. The Board found either to be appropriate and asked that the language reflect either as acceptable.

Additionally, it is required for CAET's to complete continuing education in the field of animal euthanasia each year in order to renew their certification. However, there are currently very few programs offering such relevant education. If programs are offered, they can not complete the annual requirement of six hours at one program because most programs are directed toward animal shelter workers or animal adoptions, rather than drug records, stress management for CAET's, etc. , thereby not providing the minimum approved hours for euthanasia technicians. Until such time as programs are available relative to euthanasia technician continuing education, the Board would like to offer such a program annually as a one day c.e. program to help CAET's maintain the mandatory continuing education.

BRIEF SUMMARY

Proposed Legislative Rule Change Filed June, 2005 for 2006 Legislature

Series 5- Certified Animal Euthanasia Technician

The proposed rule changes to Series 5 are for purposes of authorizing the “drug of choice” for animal euthanasia by injection to be Sodium Pentobarbital and/or Sodium Pentobarbital compound, as some CAET’s prefer SP, while others prefer SP compound.

The rule change also authorizes the Board of Veterinary Medicine to conduct an annual continuing education program for CAET’s, as West Virginia law requires annual c.e. in the field of animal euthanasia and there is little in the way of continuing education applicable to this field annually.
