Statement of Circumstances Auctioneer Title 61 – Series 11B

The West Virginia Department of Agriculture (WVDA) proposes to increase accountability to auctioneers and their customers by making several changes to the Auctioneer rule.

The current rule requires five thousand dollars ($5,000) for an apprentice auctioneer. WVDA proposes that be changed to ten thousand dollars ($10,000) to help protect consumers. In addition, WVDA proposes the auctioneer provide name, license number and permanent address of auctioneer to each buyer or purchaser for each item purchased, rather than only once and auctioneer is to retain a copy of issued receipts for his or her records for a minimum of five (5) years instead of six (6) months.

The current rule also does not address sponsoring auctioneers. Therefore, WVDA proposes for an auctioneer to sponsor an apprentice, the auctioneer must have held an auctioneer's license for at least five (5) consecutive years and can sponsor no more than two (2) apprentices at any time.

Proposed changes to Title 61, Series 11B have no financial effect on state government.
