

EXECUTIVE SUMMARY

WEST VIRGINIA DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION

Policy Number and Title: Policy 2417, Programs of Study for Limited English proficiency (LEP) Students

Background:

In accordance with Title III of the No Child Left Behind Act of 2001, limited English proficient students must be provided full educational parity with their peers. West Virginia made progress toward this goal in May 2003 with the adoption of Standards for English Language Proficiency (Policy 2417). The next step, as required by both Title I and Title III, is the implementation of an annual assessment of English Language Development for LEP students. West Virginia is currently part of a multi-state consortium developing this assessment.

Proposals: Revisions to Policy 2417 are being recommended so that the first annual, standards-based assessment of LEP students can be implemented statewide. In order to promote successful achievement results, appropriate instructional and programmatic support requirements are also being recommended. In addition, based on teacher feedback, a committee has reviewed the standards and indicators, previously approved under Policy 2417, and recommended minor revisions.

Impact: The proposed revisions will align West Virginia policy with federal policy and fulfill the requirements submitted in the state's Consolidated State Application. Most of the counties currently serving LEP students already meet the majority of proposed requirements. These revisions will strengthen those programs and provide a consistent framework for all counties that serve LEP students.

English Language Proficiency
Standards and Objectives for West Virginia Schools

Explanation of TermsLEP Student Profile

LEP students, like the general population, are a diverse group. Their abilities range on a continuum from being gifted to having special needs. Additionally, LEP students range from having a high level of proficiency in all skill areas in their native language to being illiterate or minimally literate. Some LEP students have had prior formal schooling outside of the United States in their native language while others have had limited formal schooling.

Proficiency Performance Standards

English Language Proficiency (ELP) Standards are distinct because they explicitly focus on the learning needs of the wide range of LEP students from pre-kindergarten through twelfth grade who come from widely diverse cultural, linguistic, and educational backgrounds and are at different stages of English language acquisition. The cultural component is embedded throughout the standards, in that it is impossible to isolate discreet cultural elements from the teaching of language. Unlike other content standards, they take into account the critical role of language learning in the achievement of content and specially focus on the learning styles and instructional needs of LEP students. ELP Standards represent a bridge for LEP students to gain access to content instruction in English.

The ELP Standards are not performance content standards. It is not their intent to describe ~~how well students should be able to demonstrate their knowledge...what students should know and be able to do.~~ Instead, they gauge the degree to which the content standards have been attained. These proficiency performance standards represent the degrees of proficiency in the English language that an LEP student will master upon completion of each level.

Objectives

Objectives are incremental steps toward proficiency of the standards. Objectives are listed by proficiency level. Although the objectives have been developed separately for each standard (Oral, Reading, Writing) they are integrated in classroom instruction.

Proficiency Levels

Regardless of their grade level, all LEP students can be classified in one of five levels of English proficiency. These levels are:

- Level 1: Negligible
- Level 2: Very Limited
- Level 3: Limited
- Level 4: Intermediate
- Level 5: Fluent

Numbering of Standards

The number for each content standard is composed of three parts, each part is separated by a period:

- The content area code (e.g., ELP for English Language Proficiency)
- The letter S, for Standard; and
- The standard number.

Illustration: ELP.S.1. refers to English Language Proficiency standard #1.

Numbering of Objectives

The number for each objective is composed of three parts, each part is separated by a period:

- The proficiency level (e.g., ELP1 for English Language Proficiency Level One)
- The number of the standard addressed; and
- The objective number.

Illustration: ELP1.2.3. refers to a Level One English Language Proficiency objective that addresses standard two (reading), and that is the third objective listed under that standard.

Follow Content Standards

Some objectives may not be developmentally appropriate for lower grade levels (e.g., kindergarten). In these instances, the objectives are marked FCS. FCS signifies that students should follow the Content Standards for ~~Reading/Language Arts~~ Reading and English Language Arts as a guideline, implementing the ELP standard when appropriate for their grade level.

PROGRAMS OF STUDY FOR LIMITED ENGLISH LANGUAGE PROFICIENT STUDENTS - OVERVIEW - POLICY 2417

Program of Study

The West Virginia Programs of Study for Limited English Language Proficient (LEP) Students set forth the expectations for English language proficiency for all West Virginia LEP students in elementary, middle, junior high and high schools. The curriculum is designed to address the needs of all LEP students studying to acquire English language proficiency regardless of their native language or the grade level or proficiency level at which they study.

Standards

The goal of the English Language Proficiency (ELP) Standards is to provide the foundation that will enable LEP students to be successful in the English Content Standards and across the curriculum. This foundation is essential because LEP students are learning English as another language. They are designed to provide guidance for the development of district ~~English Language Proficiency~~ ELP curricula, the selection of instructional materials, the evaluation of students' learning, and inservice and preservice professional development programs. Teachers at local schools are responsible for developing a scope and sequence and for selecting the specific content and learning activities that will lead students to a high level of language proficiency. It is imperative, therefore, that the material presented at each proficiency level is controlled for both age and proficiency level in English.

The ~~Reading/English Language Arts~~ Reading and English Language Arts Content Standards (W.Va. 126CSR744A, West Virginia Board of Education Policy ~~ies~~ 2520.1: ~~Reading/English Language Arts~~ Reading and English Language Arts Content Standards and Objectives for West Virginia Schools) support the English language development of K-12 ~~Limited English Proficient~~ LEP students. In some cases, the descriptor for the ~~Reading/English Language Arts Content Standards~~ Policy 2520.1 and the ELP standards are the same, but the indicators beneath the descriptor differ. This difference reflects the skills that the LEP student can accomplish at that proficiency level. Another difference between the ELP Standards and the ~~Reading/English Language Arts Content Standards~~ Policy 2520.1 is that the ELP Standards are not grade level specific. LEP students will proceed through these levels at their own pace depending in part on their level of proficiency in their native language, the age when they entered school in the United States, and their ability to learn another language.

Five levels of English proficiency have been defined for the state's LEP population. These levels are Level 1: Negligible, Level 2: Very Limited, Level 3: Limited, Level 4: Intermediate, and Level 5: Fluent. An individual student may progress at varying levels within the standards. Within each of these levels, objectives have been developed for:

- ELP.S.1. Oral language (listening and speaking)
- ELP.S.2. Reading
- ELP.S.3. Writing

Proficiency in listening, speaking, reading, and writing as outlined in these ~~§~~standards will allow LEP students to make a successful transition in order to meet the requirement of Policy 2520.1 Reading/English Language Arts Content Standards. A concerted effort should be made to relate required reading selections to other core subjects including mathematics, science, and history and social science.

Progression Timeline

LEP students enter schools with a wide range of skills and abilities in their native language and/or English that determine the rate at which they acquire proficiency in the English language. Research indicates that it may take five to seven years, on the average, for a student to become fully proficient in English. The goal for the education of LEP students is to provide intensive instruction so that LEP students can develop English proficiency as quickly as possible in order to reach full educational parity with their peers.
