TITLE 71
LEGISLATIVE RULE
OFFICE OF INSPECTOR GENERAL

SERIES 6

RULES REGARDING WAIVER OF RIGHTS UNDER THE WEST VIRGINIA HUMAN RIGHTS ACT

§71-6-1. General.

1.1. Scope. -- The following legislative rules set forth criteria for regulating the voluntary release or waiver of an individual's right to pursue a claim under the West Virginia Human Rights Act (HRA), W. Va. Code §16b-17-1, et seq. The West Virginia Code is available in public libraries and on the Legislature's web page, <http://www.wvlegislature.gov>.

1.2. Authority. -- W. Va. Code §16B-17-8(h).

1.3. Filing Date. -- February 5, 2025.

1.4. Effective Date. -- February 5, 2025.

1.5. Sunset Date. -- This rule shall terminate and have no further force or effect on August 1, 2030.

§71-6-2. Commission's Right to Investigate.

2.1. No waiver agreement signed by any individual shall affect the Commission's right and statutory duty to enforce the West Virginia Human Rights Act or to investigate any complaint filed before it. No waiver agreement may be used to justify interference with the right of an individual to file a complaint or participate in any proceeding conducted by this Commission.

§71-6-3. Waiver Must Be Knowing and Voluntary.

3.1. An individual may not waive any right or claim under the West Virginia Human Rights Act unless the waiver is knowing and voluntary.

3.2. Except as provided in section 3.3., a waiver shall not be considered knowing and voluntary unless all of the following conditions are met:

3.2.1. The waiver is part of an agreement between the individual and the employer that is written in plain English and in a manner calculated to be understood by the average person with a similar educational and work background as the individual in question;

3.2.2. The waiver specifically refers to rights or claims arising under the West Virginia Human Rights Act;

3.2.3. The waiver does not extend to rights or claims that may arise after the date the waiver is executed;

3.2.4. The individual waives a right only in exchange for consideration that is in addition to anything of value to which the individual already is entitled;

3.2.5. The individual is advised in writing to consult with an attorney prior to executing the agreement and is provided with the toll-free telephone number of the West Virginia State Bar Association (1-866-989-8227);

3.2.6. The individual is given a period of at least 21 days within which to consider the agreement; and

3.2.7. The agreement provides that for a period of at least 7 days following execution of such agreement, the individual may revoke the agreement in writing, and the agreement shall not become effective or enforceable until the revocation period has expired.

3.3. If a party who has filed a complaint pursuant to the West Virginia Human Rights Act executes a written release in connection with the settlement of the claims made in the complaint, and the release is entered into by the party with the direct assistance of an attorney who has made an appearance on behalf of such complaining party, the release may be considered a knowing and voluntary waiver without regard to the requirements of subsections 3.2.e., 3.2.f., and 3.2.g.

§71-6-4. Waiver in Connection with Group Program.

4.1. In addition to the requirements set forth in section 3, if a waiver is requested in connection with an exit incentive or other employment termination program offered to a group or class of employees, the employer must inform the individual in writing, in a manner calculated to be understood by the average individual eligible to participate, as to the following factors:

4.1.1. Any class, unit or group of individuals covered by such program, any eligibility factors for such program, and any time limits applicable to such program;

4.1.2. The job titles and ages of all individuals eligible or selected for the program, and the ages of all individuals in the same job classification or organizational unit who are not eligible or selected for the program;

4.1.3. The method and/or factors used or considered in arriving at the amount of consideration that is offered; and

4.1.4. The right to consider the agreement for a period of at least 45 days (instead of the 21-day period set forth in subsection 3.2.f. above).

§71-6-5. Burden of Proof on Waiver and Duress.

5.1. In any dispute that may arise over whether any of the requirements, conditions, and circumstances set forth above have been met, the party asserting the validity of the waiver shall have the burden of proving as an affirmative defense that a waiver was knowing and voluntary pursuant to the above terms.

5.2. Even if the conditions set forth in this rule have been met, an individual may show that a waiver is involuntary because it was executed as a result of a threat, intimidation or coercion on the part of the employer. The individual shall have the burden of proving that the threat, intimidation or coercion was a determining factor in the individual's decision to execute the waiver.

§71-6-6. Waiver as a Defense.

6.1. During the investigation of a complaint, a properly obtained waiver shall be considered as evidence that a violation of the HRA has not occurred. If a probable cause determination is made despite the presence of a properly obtained waiver, the employer shall be permitted to raise the waiver as an affirmative defense in its answer to the complaint. Upon a finding of probable cause to believe that unlawful discrimination has occurred, the Commission may prosecute a complaint in its own name regardless of a waiver.

§71-6-7. Limit on Confidentiality Provision.

7.1. Any confidentiality or other condition restricting the right of an individual to discuss the terms of a waiver shall be considered null and void and of no effect in regard to communication between an individual and the Human Rights Commission or an individual and similarly situated employees.

§71-6-8. Scope of Coverage.

8.1. The conditions of waiver set forth in this rule are declared to have equal applicability in regard to complaints involving alleged discrimination in employment, housing and public accommodation.
