

Proclamation

by Governor Patrick Morrisey

- Whereas, the first years of a child's life are the period of the most rapid brain development and lay the foundation for all future learning; and
- Whereas, high-quality early childhood programs provide important benefits to children, families and our state and national economies; and
- Whereas, high quality early care and education helps build strong developmental foundations for young children during the years of greatest brain development, leading to positive outcomes for individual children, and helping them be better prepared for school and more likely to succeed in life; and
- Whereas, participation in high-quality early childhood education saves taxpayer dollars, makes working families more economically secure, and prepares children to succeed in school, earn higher wages, and live healthier lives; and
- Whereas, high-quality early childhood education depends on high-quality early childhood educators who ensure that children, supported by families, have the early experiences they need for a strong foundation; and
- Whereas, young children need developmentally appropriate, accessible, and available early care and education settings; and
- Whereas, young children need skilled, educated, competent, consistent, and well-compensated early childhood educators; and
- Whereas, working families need sufficient high-quality child care spaces beginning at birth to be available in the community; and
- Whereas, children need developmentally appropriate, accessible, and available early care and education settings.

Now, Therefore, Be it Resolved that I, Patrick Morrisey, Governor of the Great State of West Virginia, do hereby proclaim April 5-11, 2025, as:

The Week of the Young Child in the Mountain State and encourage all citizens to join me in observance.

In Witness Whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the Great Seal of the State of West Virginia to be affixed.

Done at the Capitol, City of Charleston, State of West Virginia, this the Fifth day of April, in the year of our Lord, Two Thousand Twenty-Five, and in the One Hundred Sixty-Second year of the State.

Patrick Morrisey
Governor

By the Governor:

Kris Warner
Secretary of State