

Proclamation

by Governor Patrick Morrisey

- Whereas, experts agree that nutrition status is a direct measure of health and that good nutrition can keep people healthy and out of health care institutions; and
- Whereas, inadequate or unbalanced nutrition, known as malnutrition, is prevalent in many groups, including vulnerable populations, with older adults having the highest rate of malnutrition compared to other groups; and
- Whereas, illness, injury, and malnutrition can result in the loss of lean body mass, leading to complications that impact good patient health outcomes, including recovery from surgery, illness, or disease; and
- Whereas, disease-related malnutrition is a highly prevalent condition, affecting 32–54% of adults and up to 27% of pediatric patients every day; and
- Whereas, malnourished patients have two times longer hospital stays compared to patients with no malnutrition and readmitted malnourished patients are twice as likely to be diagnosed with an infection; and
- Whereas, the 30-day hospital readmission rate is 2.2 times higher than patients without malnutrition; and
- Whereas, malnourished patients have two times higher hospital costs compared to the average cost of all hospital stays, and readmitted malnourished patients have 22% higher hospital costs than readmitted patients with no malnutrition; and
- Whereas, malnourished patients have three times the mortality rate of mortality of all hospitalized patients; and
- Whereas, 20-40% of adults in the community are at risk of or have malnutrition which leads to more complications, falls, and readmissions, and plays a role in cognitive deterioration, decreased functional capacity, and affects the quality of life.
- Whereas, raising awareness is the first step toward prevention, early intervention, and ensuring every individual - especially children- has access to the nourishment they need to grow, learn, thrive; and
- Whereas, screening, assessment, diagnosis, and intervention are key to improving malnutrition in the United States.

Now, Therefore, Be it Resolved that I, Patrick Morrisey, Governor of the Great State of West Virginia, do hereby proclaim September 8-12, 2025 as:
